ROME CLAIMS TROOPS GAIN IN GREECE

ROOSEVELT AID HINTS AT MORE BRITISH HELP

President Likely To Reveal Plans in Major Speech in Boston Tonight.

By The Associated Press

ENROUTE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO BOSTON, Oct. 30—A major step to increase aid to Britain and her allies probably will be announced by President Roosevelt tonight in an address in Boston, a White House official indicated today.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, advised reporters to be on the watch for something along that line, but would give no hints as to the nature of the aid.

The secretary did warn them, however, not to "go overboard" on releasing American "flying fortresses" to the British.

There has been speculation that the United States might turn over more destroyers to Britain or perhaps allow her a priority on airplane contracts.

Early left an impression that priorities might be involved, asserting that the new aid would not take away any existing equipment for the American armed forces.

Speaks at New Haven

President Roosevelt started his political incursion into New England by telling a drenched crowd at the New Haven, Conn., station that men were being trained for military service for "just the same reason that you've got umbrellas up today so as not to get wet."

With all the production of war equipment and supplies, in which Connecticut is doing her bit, the President said it still was necessary to have manpower, even though there was no expectation of using it.

"Incidentally," he added, "I think you realize that all this talk about sending American boys to Europe, well, it does not conform with either the facts of the past or the facts of the future."

He said it was a "pity" that fear had been injected into the campaign—"fears about things that don't exist."

"What a pity it is," Mr. Roosevelt added, "the only thing we have to fear in America is fear itself."

The President spoke extemporaneously from the rear platform of his special train.

Crowd Braves Rain

After picking up a carload of politicians and officials at New Haven, the special rolled on toward Hartford.

To the dripping audience at New Haven, the President remarked:

"It is very good of you to come out on this very rainy day and I appreciate it.

"I am particularly happy to be here today because yesterday I wasn't sure that I could come. I have had, as you know, certain responsibilities that go with the office and within the past few days, we are afraid, another conflict has broken out.

"There have been a great many conflicts that have broken out so far, but I notice that in all of them the United States has managed to keep clear and not get into war."

From New Haven, the President went on by train to Hartford to inspect the Pratt and Whitney aircraft engine plant and head into Massachusetts by automobile.

Mr. Roosevelt intended to have dinner at the home of his son, John, on Beacon street, Boston, between the time of his arrival, around 5 p. m. and the evening speech in Boston Garden at 10:15 p. m.

ROOSEVELT TO BROADCAST ON 3 NETWORKS TONIGHT

President Roosevelt will speak on a three-network hookup tonight at 10:15. His talk will be heard over WEAF-NBC, CBS and MBS.

Other campaign talks tonight: CBS at 8:30 - Democratic-Doro-thy Thompson from New York.

WJZ-NBC at 9 - Republican - Senator Robert Taft form East Liverpool, O.

WJZ-NBC at 9:45 - Republican-John W. Hanes.

WEAF-NBC at 10 - Democratic Senator Robert F. Wagner.

CAFETERIA IN PRISON

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Oct. 30—For the first time in history cafeteria service for one-fourth of Ohio state penitentiary's inmates will go into effect Friday, Warden Frank J. Henderson announced. He said that the change would provide warmer food and greater selection.

HER SON'S NUMBER FIRST CALLED

Mother of a 21-year-old Washington, D. C., youth whose number was first drawn in America's first peace-time draft lottery, Mrs. Mildred C. Bell, is pictured shaking hands with Clarence Dykstra, the director of the national conscription bill, Mrs. Bell, who was in the audience in the Washington hall where the drawing took place, was stunned with surprise and screamed when her son's number, 158, was first called. Full School Terms Hinges on Renewal of 3-Mill Levy

The question of what would happen if the three-mill levy for operating expenses of the city schools is not renewed Nov. 5 has three answers.

First, a shortened school term; second, lower maintenance costs; third, lower salaries for teachers, school officials explain.

The first solution would mean a loss to the schools of $1,086 a day from the school foundation fund which pays the school district a specified amount per pupil for every day in school. An eight-month school year would mean a loss of $21,320 to Marion schools, figured on the average 20-day school month.

Graduates of Harding High school who wanted to attend college probably would find the doors closed unless they took an entrance examination. For more than 30 years the high school has enjoyed membership in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, one requirement of which is that the school operate the full nine months. Its graduates have entered virtually all colleges in the country without entrance examinations because of the high school's membership in the association.

Would Lose Opportunities

"More important," Supt. E. E. Holt said recently, "every day our children are not in school they are losing opportunities to which they are justly entitled if they are to have the same type education offered in other cities."

The lower maintenance costs would eventually bring the schools to an early closing. Marion's maintenance costs already are 38 per cent lower than in 15 other schools of a comparable size in the state. Thirty per cent of Marion's maintenance expense is fuel—and without coal to warm the buildings it is doubtful that many parents would send their boys and girls to school.

This last summer the board of education began an extensive program of repairs to buildings such as roofing, new toilet facilities, new blinds, changes in lighting, painting and repacing worn flooring. The work was started because the school system is now operating on a sound financial basis. Plans are under way to continue the program next summer, extending it to other schools.

Without the $102,948 a year which the three-mill levy represents, approximately 24 per cent of the 1941 budget, this maintenance program would have to be dropped.

Other Things Needed

Other maintenance costs include insurance and taxes. To cut maintenance costs on buildings might also endanger the insurance protection which now covers every building.

The third solution, lowering of teachers' salaries would result immediately in the loss of a great many teachers other than the Marion men and women now employed, according to school officials.

"To lower the salaries very much and still get teachers equipped and qualified to teach in a system of the size and importance of Marion's would be next to impossible," Superintendent Holt said. "Our salary schedule already is 23 per cent lower than the average of the other 15 schools in our enrollment sphere. We could not maintain the standard of our present faculty."

KILLED BY TRAIN

CHILLICOTHE, O., Oct. 30—A Baltimore and Ohio freight train last night killed Henry Cottrill, 62, of nearby Musselman.

MAN INJURED BY TRAIN DIES

Glad Street Resident Passes Away in Hospital at Columbus.

William L. Harris, 58, of 151 Glad street died at 4 p. m. yesterday in University hospital in Columbus of injuries suffered when he was struck by a train early Monday morning. The body was to be returned here today and members of the family reported that although funeral arrangements were not complete, services likely would be held Friday.

Mr. Harris, who had gone to Columbus last Saturday to visit at the home of a friend, Dave Harrison, was struck as he was walking along the Big Four railroad tracks at the north edge of Columbus near Worthington. He suffered a fractured skull, broken collarbone and fractures of both hands and legs.

He was a native of Union county, born March 11, 1882, the son of Richard and Arum Harris. He was married in Marion to Mrs. Susie Doren Harris. They lived here for 17 years, previously residing in Richwood. Mr. Harris had been in ill health for the past seven years and previous to that was an employe of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

The widow, 11 children, Mrs. Mary Brown of Galion, Mrs. Rachel Ison of Bucyrus, Mrs. Howard Putman of 506 Henry street, Mrs. Homer Adams of Owens street, Mrs. Starling Williams of Sawyer road, Charles of Columbus, Roy, John, Robert, Ruby and Hazel, all at home, a brother, Lon, of Colorado, and a sister, who lives in Kansas, survive.

FIRST CALL TO TAKE 996 MEN FROM OHIO

Will Report for Duty Between Nov. 19 and 27.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—Ohio will supply 996 men in the first selective service draft, fifth corps area headquarters at Fort Hayes announced today.

The men will report to their assigned posts between Nov. 19 and 27, inclusive, except on Sundays and Thanksgiving day, the announcement said.

Fort Hayes will receive 786 draftees, 200 from the Cincinnati area will go to Ft. Thomas, Ky., and 10 from the area immediately across the Ohio river will report to the national guard armory at Huntington, W. Va.

State draft headquarters estimated that 324 of the state's 330 draft boards would supply three men each and the others four each. Adj. Gen. Gilson D. Light expressed the belief that volunteers would be sufficient for the first call. Each board must supply its own quota regardless of the number of volunteers he said.

Quotas for other states in the Fifth corps area were: Kentucky 172, West Virginia 155 and Indiana 395.

Draft officials indicated the next call would be about Dec. 2 and that the quotas would be sub-

Draft Drawing Ends Early Today After 17 Hours Work

Final Check Reveals Six Numbers Short; Junior Drawing Gives Two Extra.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—The grand conscription lottery, which held marching orders for some 5,000,000 young Americans, finished in an unlooked-for flurry this morning with 6 numbers missing, but finally wound up officially with 2 numbers more than it should have had.

In the rainy dawn after 17 hours and 31 minutes of drawing from the big draft bowl, a last solitary blue capsule was picked up from the glass bottom by Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, assistant selective service director. It was 5:47 a. m.

That capsule should have been the 9,000th—the number of capsules originally believed placed in the bowl before the drawing opened at 12:18 p. m. yesterday.

Instead it proved to be the 8,994th. Despite the most elaborate precautions, 6 number-bearing blue capsules were missing.

Selective service officials immediately instituted a check to track down the omitted numbers. Manual records kept throughout the marathon drawing confirmed the number of missing numbers as 6.

To make sure that every number missing from the master list would be drawn, General Hershey had a special "junior drawing" of those 8 numbers—a brief sweepstakes witnessed by a handful and over in 5 minutes.

The official last number drawn accordingly was the 9,002nd—number 7839.

Junior Drawing

The "junior drawing" epilogue made the total elapsed time for the actual drawing 17 hours and 36 minutes, a much slower performance than the first World war draft in 1917 when 19,500 numbers were picked in 16 hours and 29 minutes.

In the event the dubious 2 among the 8 "missing" numbers should turn up earlier in the drawing lists, the result of the "junior draw" will be disregarded as far as they are concerned. No clues were immediately discovered as to how the missing numbers vanished from the bowl.

Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, selective service director, who saw the lottery through from the drawing of the first number—158—to the unscheduled end, issued this statement at the finish:

"Today we have witnesed an unprecedented event in our peacetime history—the development of an orderly routine for the calling out of a vast peace-time army.

"Large military establishments have been avoided since the first colonies were established in this country, but it has been demonstrated in the last few hours that when necessity arises every man, every woman is willing to forego all precedent."

Pending their re-check, officials were at a loss to understand what had become of the missing numbered slips. So far as the keeping of the records was concerned, the task had been entrusted throughout to specially trained, skilled and trusted employes of the selective service system.

Many Take Part

A large number of persons, however, took part in the physical drawing of capsules from the draft jar. All who sought permission to help with the drawing were given an opportunity to do so, including messenger boys, newspaper reporters, tourists, large numbers of American Legionnaires, government clerks and others.

They suggested that possibly the missing numbers might have caught in the sleeves of those who drew out capsules, that they may have fallen off the table on which the bowl rested, or that they might not even have been in the bowl at the beginning.

The great lottery, which began yesterday with such patriotic solemnity and ceremony, reached its conclusion after long night and early morning hours of almost monotonous routine. It lagged behind the 12-hour timetable which optimists set for it, and took longer than the 16 hours and 20 minutes required for the first world war drawing, which contained more numbers.

As the store of bright blue, number-laden capsules dwindled in the big glass aquarium which first saw duty in the 1917 lottery, official and unofficial calculations were that holders of numbers drawn after the first 1,500 or 2,000 taken from the bowl would not be summoned before draft boards the first year. The first year's draft quota is 800,000.

The capital slept while the drawning went ahead all night in stately, brightly lighted departmental auditorium—the only spot of brilliance in the row of cold and rakened federal buildings along Constitution avenue.

Many hours earlier the flags and drums, the dignitaries and the crowds had departed.

Crews Change Shifts

At midnight the dull routine of the draw was interrupted by a changing of the guard and the appearance of a new crew of selective service workers. The first

Draft Registrants Rush To Learn Places on List

Many a Marion county man was beginning to think of himself as "Private Jones", with the completion of the national draft lottery early today in Washington.

A great many registrants, however, have not been able to learn where they stand in the draft order and probably will not know until they are notified by their draft boards by mail several days from now.

This is to be expected, because of the tremendous amount of detail involved and because of the rather complicated nature of the draft machinery.

Crowds at Draft Offices

Yesterday afternoon after the first few numbers were drawn a miniature storm of registrants appeared at the draft board headquarters in the post office, seeking to find their serial numbers and if possible their order numbers.

The serial numbers have been posted at the draft board offices for several days, but many put off finding theirs until the last minute.

Marion county serial numbers did not appear very rapidly in yesterday's drawing at Washington. The first two were low enough for the county, then came a big jump. Out of the first 40 numbers drawn only five came within the Marion county range.

Lists of Marion county draft numbers appear on Pages 4 and 10.

It appeared to workers at The Star, studying the national list as it came in over The Associated Press wires, that the big "fish bowl" at Washington hadn't been shaken up very thoroughly. The big numbers—up in the thousands—predominated in the first part of the drawing and the smaller serial numbers came later for the most part.

Many Near Prospect

One of the unusual aspects of the drawing here in the early stages was the large number of men near Prospect whose numbers came up.

In some instances two men from one family were called and often neighbors were called one after the other.

One of the "numbers" agencies in Marion reported a big play here yesterday on "158", the first number drawn at Washington. The numbers writers didn't mind. The number didn't "hit" on the stock and bond exchange.

Many men also have been playing their serial numbers for several days and some have made a little ready cash out of their hunches.

Marion county men will all know their official order numbers within several days, when their draft boards issue the official lists. These will be posted on the bulletin boards of the three draft headquarters. Each man will also be mailed a card which will contain his serial number and order number.

COLORADO PUBLISHER DIES

By The Associated Press

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 30—Clarence Clark Hamlin, 72, publisher of the Gazette and the Telegraph, prominent attorney, and a political leader in Colorado nearly 40 years, died last night.

And What If War Did Come?

"I would frankly rather see America enter the war under Wendell Willkie's leadership," says Oswald Garrison Villard, the well known liberal journalist. "I hold the President to be a grossly inefficient administrator, swayed by emotion, without deep principle, and no economic principle whatever, easily influenced by men who operate behind the scenes, without stability, without foresight, without depth."

(From Mr. Villard's article on Page 6.)

WILLKIE SEES DANGER TO U.S. IN 3RD TERM

Says President Has "Passed Buck" on Neglect of Defense of America.

By The Associated Press

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN, ENROUTE TO BALTIMORE, OCT. 30 — Accusing President Roosevelt of "buck-passing" and "boon-doggling neglect" of American defenses, Wendell L. Willkie returned east today with the charge that a third term would endanger preparedness, and that "democracy itself may be lost."

The Republican presidential nominee is expected by associates to devote a large part of his final campaign speeches to defense issues, which he emphasized last night in two addresses at Charleston, W. Va.

In the first, delivered to a cheering crowd which jammed the city auditorium, Willkie declared that the President in recent years had "overruled the experts" and failed to ask for sufficient funds to build up the army and navy.

Last January, he said, Mr. Roosevelt recommended an increase of $250,000,000 in defense appropriations, whereas congress later voted money and contract authorizations for an additional $10,000,000,000.

"Thus," the nominee added, "he was only one fortieth right."

In his second Charleston speech a national radio broadcast from his private Pullman car, Willkie argued that the President "sought to place the whole blame for the accumulation of present problems upon a small group within the minority party."

U. S. Has Name For It

"Throughout America, there is a term for this kind of thing which every American understands," he continued. "That term, as applied to his broadcast last (Monday) night, is 'he passed the buck.'"

At the last minute, Willkie added a few paragraphs to his speech to criticize the administration for having an ambassador on the job in only one major European capital, Moscow.

"Some of these ambassadors," he said, "are home taking active part in a partisan political campaign, and of course that is all with the approval of the third term candidate."

As President, he asserted, he himself would select for those positions only the "ablest and most devoted men" who would "spend their time wholeheartedly representing the interests of the United States."

Declaring ambassadors should be above partisan politics, he continued:

"And they should not seek to advise us about our defense program, a subject about which their knowledge can only be slight.

Truck Crash Halts Towns' Electricity Service; 3 Hurt

Three men were injured, one requiring hospital treatment, in two traffic mishaps near Marion yesterday afternoon.

Ralph Schmelzer, 28, of near Richwood suffered severe body bruises when the truck in which he was riding got out of control and crashed into a high tension pole at the intersection of Routes 4 and 47 about 12 miles south of Marion. Main lines supplying electricity for Marysville, Richwood and West Mansfield were ripped down and the three communities were without electricity from 3:30 p. m. until shortly after 6 o'clock, officials of the Marion-Reserve Power Co. reported.

Attendants at City hospital described Mr. Schmelzer's condition as "good" this morning, adding that X-Rays would be taken later in the day to determine the extent of his injuries.

Driver Injured

Also hurt in the crash was R. N. McGinnis, 31, of West Mansfeild, driver of the truck, who suffered a sprained left shoulder, state highway patrolman investigating the accident reported. Three other men riding in the truck escaped uninjured.

Highway patrolman said all five men narrowly escaped electrocution. The truck broke off the pole and then turned over on its top. The pole fell on the bottom of the truck and the wires narrowly missed contact with the vehicle, they reported.

Mr. McGinnis, an employe of the Nestle milk products plant at Marysville, told patrolmen the truck got out of control when he started to make a left turn from Route 47 onto Route 4. The truck careened about 75 feet north

WAR BUILDING HIT BY FIRE

Roaring Blaze Threatens Secret Documents in Washington.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — A roaring fire at the war department-munitions building on Constitution avenue destroyed a newly-built fourth floor addition during the night and did extensive damage to sections housing a mass of records, some of them secret.

Intelligence officers and fire marshals began an investigation of the cause, as soon as the massed fire equipment of the District of Columbia brought the flames under control in a struggle lasting more than an hour.

While the investigation went on, firemen already tired from their efforts at the war department's building — a structure built in World war days as a "temporary" building — were called to another blaze at the Lewis hotel training school on Washington Circle. At this fire, which was confined mostly to the basement, 15 firemen were overcome by escaping gas. Four were hospitalized.

There was no official statement as to the importance of documents destroyed or damaged. However, one building guard declared the partially-burned wing was "the most important" part of the department.

Firemen were successful in their efforts to keep actual flames from the message center, but it was feared that smoke and water had taken their toll.

Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, took charge half an hour after the alarm had sounded. About 200 machine gun troops were summoned from Fort Myer, and some 400 infantrymen from the Arlington cantonment.

Construction described by firemen as semi-fireproof, saved parts of the building with its heavy concrete floors.

FOUR KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES IN BEAN FIELD

By The Associated Press

CHARLOTTE, Mich., Oct. 30—Four men were killed last night when an airplane on a chartered flight from Chicago to Flint, Mich., crashed and burned in a bean field six and one-half miles south of here as the pilot attempted to land.

The victims, all Chicagoans, were identified as Edward Whiting, the pilot, Don Schmitt, Rev. L. K. Williams, president of the Baptist Convention of America, and Rev. William M. Haynes. The two clergymen were Negroes on their way to a Republican rally at Flint.

CANDIDATE SUES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30—A $100,000 slander suit was filed yesterday against Jerome Goldman by County Engineer W. Allen Stone, who charged that statements made by Goldman in a letter to prosecutor Carl W. Rich alleging fraud in Stone's primary campaign expense account were "false." Goldman, attorney for a former employe in the engineer's office, filed a petition Monday charging that Stone's expense report to the board of elections was incomplete.

BRITAIN SPEEDS MILITARY AID TO TINY ALLY

Mines Laid in Approaches to All Key Ports on Greek Coast.

By The Associated Press

A Rome radio broadcast asserted today that Italian troops had smashed 40 miles into Greece, capturing the town of St. Nicholas, But Athens reported that reinforced Greek fighters were holding an unbroken front under heavy artillery fire.

The Italian attacks, supported by planes and mountain guns, were said to be steadily intensifying.

Mussolini's high command, with unusual brevity, merely reported: "Our troops have continued the advance into Greek territory, overcoming resistance of the enemy's rearguard."

By contrast with this 15-word report on the war with Greece, the Italian high command devoted 53 words to the Fascist campaign in Africa, noting mostly indecisive actions about clay-hut outposts in the African desert.

Authoritative Fascist quarters in Rome acknowledge the Greeks were resisting stubbornly, but they denied that troops of the little Aegean kingdom had driven a counter-thrust into Albania, the starting point of the Italian invasion Monday.

Britain Rushes Aid

These quarters said Mussolini's legions were advancing deeper into Greece without encountering "serious military difficulties."

Great Britain stepped up aid to her new ally, the London admiralty announced, by mining approaches to key ports on the Greek coast, mainly in the gulf Aegina which guards Piraeus, the port of Athens.

Other mine fields were sown in the gulfs of Patras and Corinth and in the waters lying north of Crete along the east coast of the Peloponnesus.

British military circles denied reports that British troops have already landed on the Grecian isles of Corfu and Greece, following a broadcast of Rome dispatches saying Italian troops had also landed at Corfu and were fighting the British.

Amid sparse reports of actual fighting, evidently trimmed by a heavy censorship on both sides, Athens reported that the Italians were striking hard into the western sector of Greece's defenses in a drive apparently aimed at Ioannina (Janina) some 30 miles from the Greek-Albanian frontier.

The Greek high command said briefly that "the situation remains unchanged" along the upper half of the battlefront, in western Macedonia, where Alexander the Great started his march to the conquest of ancient Persia.

Neutral military sources in Athens said the Greek advance guards were slowly retiring to the main defense sectors of the Metaxas line in keeping with a preconceived plan. There, it was expected, the Greeks would make their "do or die" stand.

Russian Stand Awaited

While Europe's chancelleries anxiously awaited some definite word from Moscow on Russia's intentions in the Balkan struggle, the Soviet army newspaper "Red Star" declared the British fleet was master of the eastern Mediterranean and forecast a long, hard battle between the Greek-British allies and Italy.

Greek reinforcements continued to stream toward the front, and the Athens government gave every indication of resisting the Italian advance with every means at its disposal.

As Britain moved to aid Greece, semi-officials quarters in Berlin intimated Turkey soon may receive an ultimatum similar to that which preceded Italy's invasion of Greece.

Turkey followed the conflict closely, but there still was no sign that she planned to abandon her neutrality.

There were indications that the Italian drive into Greece was only the forerunner of a large scale Mediterranean campaign, involving acceleration of the Fascist drive eastward into Egypt from bases already 60 miles inland, and an axist move against Gibraltar.

Gen. Jose Varela, Spanish minister of war, was expected to take off by plane from Seville today enroute to Spanish Africa and the Canary Islands on a mission linked to the recent conversations be-

NOTICE OF APPOINTMENT

Estate of Ollie W. Welch, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that Kathryn Buck has been appointed and qualified as Administratrix of the estate of Ollie W. Welch, late of Marion County, deceased.

Dated at Marion, Ohio, this 25th day of October, A. D. 1940.

OSCAR GAST, Probate Judge.
Marion County, Ohio.
No. 14374.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio.
Case No. 26332.

Sarah Patten, Plaintiff, vs. Mae H. Rogers, et al, Defendants.

Guy Struthers and Kit Struthers, who reside at Colorado Springs, Colorado, and Thomas Struthers and Charlotte Struthers, who reside at Marshall, Missouri, are to take notice that on the 14th day of August, 1940, the plaintiff, Sarah Patten, filed her petition against them in the Court of Common Pleas of Marion County, Ohio, the same being cause number 26332 in said court, for the partition of certain real estate described to-wit:

Situated in the Township of Tully, County of Marion, and State of Ohio, and described as follows: Being the north half of fractional Section thirty-six (36), Township four (4), South of Range seventeen (17) East, containing thirty (30) acres more or less.

The prayer of said petition is for the partition of said real estate and for other equitable relief.

Said defendants are required to answer said petition on the 28th day of December, 1940 or judgment will be taken against them.

SARAH PATTEN, Plaintiff.
WALTER D. MOORE,
Attorney for Plaintiff.

LEGAL NOTICE

A petition has been filed by Myron Adams in said Probate Court alleging that on account of the absence of Benjamin Franklin Adams for more than seven years from Marion, Ohio, the place of his last domicile, he is presumed to be dead, and praying that proceedings may be had to establish the legal presumption of the death of said Benjamin Franklin Adams.

Notice is hereby given that on the 25th day of November, A. D., 1940 at 10:00 o'clock, A. M., said court will hear evidence concerning the alleged absence of the said presumed decedent and the circumstances and duration thereof.

Case No. 11365.

OSCAR GAST, Judge of said Probate Court of Marion County, Ohio.

PLANES LIFT WHOLE LIST

Aircrafts Draw Delayed Support To Improve Tone of Market.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—A rise in aircrafts drew delayed support from steels today, lifting the whole stock market higher.

Included in the advancing list were Douglas, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, Caterpillar, Western Union, New York Central and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Corporate bonds followed shares to higher ground. Commodities were uneven in a narrow range. The London market was fairly firm.

Traders considered the likelihood the market might be affected by President Roosevelt's announcement tonight of "a major step" to increase aid for Great Britain.

Analysts carefully watched retail trade in the light if improved consumer purchasing power.

LEWIS WOULD DECLINE LABOR POST IF OFFERED

C.I.O. Head Refutes Sen. Wagner's Radio Statement.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—John L. Lewis, the C.I.O. leader who last week gave his support to Wendell L. Willkie for president, said today that he would not accept the secretaryship of labor, "if, in the future, it should again be tendered to me."

He made the statement in formal comment upon a radio speech by Senator Wagner (D-N. Y.) last night, which was announced as a reply to the pseech in which Lewis announced for Willkie and gave his views on the Roosevelt administration.

YOUNGSTOWN MILL AND C. I. O. CONFER

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30—An offer by the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. to settle differences with the C.I.O. Steel Workers Organizing Committee was before representatives of the union and the company who agreed to meet today at the labor board regional offices here.

Details of the proposal were not revealed but an authoritative source reported that, if accepted, it would bring an end to charges filed with the labor board as result of the 1937 "little steel" strike.

WHEAT SHOWS LOSS AT CLOSING TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 30 — Wheat prices moved up and down in a nervous trade today without definite direction although closing figures showed fractional net losses. At one stage the market was ½-⅝ cent above yesterday's close.

Corn slumped more than 2 cents a bushel, reflecting weakness of the spot market and increased offerings of new crop grain. This tended to weaken wheat as well as other grains but irregular price fluctuations in the wheat pit were attributed largely to trade uncertainty regarding domestic and international affairs and disappointment about failure of consuming demand to improve as a result of the recent price downturn.

Wheat closed ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 83¼-⅛, May 82⅝-½; corn 1⅛-1⅞ down, Dec. 59⅛-¼, May 59¾-⅝; oats ⅛ off to ⅛ up.

Boston Wool

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 30—Domestic wools continued to have a slow demand in Boston today. Original bag, fine territory wools were quoted steady, mostly $1.03-1.05, scoured basis, for good French combing lengths, and $1-1.02, scoured basis, for short to average French combing lengths. Country packed three-eighths and quarter blood bright fleece wools were quoted at 45-46 cents, in the grease, delivered to users and had few takers. South American wools of grades equivalent to fine and half-blood domestic wools were selling in moderate but smaller volume than last week at prices relatively lower than quotations for domestic wools.

Numbers Play No Favorites as U. S. Calls Draft Roll

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — The numbers played no favorites.

The low ones may mean a Khaki uniform before next July and they went out unpredictably to Indian brave, movie stars and athletes, to a state department official, sons of noted men and to a Chinese who wasn't sure he was a citizen.

By a quirk of chance one of the holders of 158 — first number drawn in the selective service sweepstakes — was an original American, one Michael Benedict Gurnoe, 21, a Chippewa Indian who had been the first to register with his local board two weeks ago in Ashland, Wis.

Number 158 also was the number of three men whose fathers found themselves at the top of the World war draft list when number 258 was drawn in the first 1917 lottery. Thus history repeated for Walter Carl Brinker of St. Louis, Garnvol Lewis Garden of Colorado Springs and Alden C. Flagg Sr., of East Acton, Mass.

James Stewart, Hollywood's eligible bachelor and top-flight movie star, found himself ticketed 309 on his local list of men subject to call. Sterling Holloway squeaky-voiced comedian, was another movie figure in the lower numerical brackets. He got 192.

Half the nation apart, local boards will post the same number—18—for the sons of the late Newton D. Baker, World war secretary who drew the first number in the 1917 drawing, and American Ambassador to Great Britain, Joseph P. Kennedy. Newton D. Baker III lives in Cleveland and young John Kennedy is at graduate school in Stanford university, Palo Alto, Calif.

In Sewickley, a Pittsburgh suburb, J. Frederick Byers Jr., scion of the well known steel family, was among the first 50 on the list.

Joe Vosmik, Brooklyn outfielder, got number 18. Bruce Coltart, former Philadelphia professional and open golf champion, qualified in the first 650 at Seaview, N. J. Two warriors of the ring, however, found themselves farther down the list. Joe Louis drew 2611, and Arturo Godoy received 3976, promptly announcing his readiness to fight any international figure pugilist or not.

In Washington, Alger Hiss, assistant to the assistant secretary of state, got number 11.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mahler Hanson

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton has just been rescued from the mounted band of Temu Darin by her dissolute half-brother Dick. Temu has been conducting Lynn across the Mongolian plain to a marriage with the Prince of Shani Lun, and partly because she distrusts Dick and partly because she loves Temu, Lynn is half inclined to believe that she would be better off in Temu's hands—Prince or no Prince.

CHAPTER THIRTY

Sherdock Again

DICK sat down on a box beside the head of Lynn's pallet. "As I wrote you I managed to slip into Delun and interview the Prince last year. I'd been running arms across the desert then as now, but I went to him seeking commercial concessions—had some idea of becoming respectable, I suppose."

He paused and looked at her. "But I couldn't interest the Prince in anything—except you." He laughed mirthlessly and bent forward, hanging his hands between his knees. "And was he crazy for you, Lynn, and extremely honorable about it, he thought. We drew up a marriage settlement contract in regal style the European way, as if I, as head of the family, had the right to dispose of your hand.

"I explained that I needed a little cash. I always seem to be needing little cash and he gave me my share of the settlement in advance. I told him that occasionally the great families of America arrange the marriages of the daughters as the French do."

Lynn lay back and laced her trembling fingers behind her head while he stood and looked at her for a minute. "But, kid, I never intended to let him marry you—or if he did marry you, to keep you."

Her lips barely moved. "How kind!"

He began his pacing again. "The first plan was for Sherdock and me to bring you to Watch Tower Wells where the Prince would meet you by airplane. Sachto would ambush the camp that night, and with the Prince dead we'd have things our own way. But Temu spoiled that by appearing in Pal Shu."

Lynn forced herself to relax the tension of her laced fingers. "What were your plans in regard to Temu?"

Dick dropped down on a pile of sheepskins. "We'd expected Temu to pilot the Prince to Watch Tower Wells where we could get rid of them both at the same time."

She flinched; he observed it. "You needn't mind; they're nothing but vermin. You," he added, "ruined our revised plans by escaping and drawing Temu after you. However, Sachto's men are ascribing a band of fighters to meet him with cannon ball and grenade the minute he gets inside the walls of the garrison of the border city of Darcon."

Lynn fought for composure before she asked. "Isn't the Prince aware of any of this?"

Dick shrugged and lit a cigarette. "I don't know. He and Sherdock seem to have some means of communication like—well like mental telepathy. They have certain powers developed that we Westerners don't know anything about but when their time comes they die like the rest of us. Perhaps by now the Prince knows we have captured the old boy though it won't do him any good."

"Why? Is the Prince already your prisoner?"

"We've got him where we can put our hands on him."

"Then is Temu the only one you have to fear now? Would he be powerful enough to keep the Duke of Sachti from seizing power?"

The Wise Man

"Maybe—if he were inside the country. Instead of out. In the morning you'll meet the Duke along with Chin Pak, one of Temu's men who has deserted to us. . . . Now your tent should be ready." He stood up and she rose and followed him out.

The next morning Lynn met the Duke of Sachto, a thin, young Mongol with a weak chin and sad, childlike eyes that were going blind. He bowed in reverence to the Goddess Tara. She soon observed that he was superstitiously afraid of the captive priest, Sherdock Fuych, who sat on a rug inside his open tent with a Chinese guard nearby.

Lynn went to the monk and sat down at his side. The bindings on his ankles and wrists, she saw, were not severe.

"Are you angry at me—us, Sherdock?" she asked.

He turned and looked at her, a twinkle threatening to sparkle in his wise, old eyes. "Things work themselves out," he said.

"I'll do my best to see that no physical harm comes to you," she promised, and asked with a smile, "Aren't you a little bit sorry now that you made me a goddess?"

He looked away towards the purple horizon. "You were born a goddess, my dear, I had nothing to do with it."

"Then if we should lose our cause, you will not unmake me?" she teased gently.

"You personally will not lose, my dear. And you will not harm my people, your people. Destiny is with you."

"Perhaps with me," she agreed, "but not with your Prince. From what I see and hear, white men don't stand up very well under the circumstances of life here in Asia."

"Certain white men," Sherdock admitted. "Dick tells me that your Prince is a weak man sunk in vice and crime."

He studied her face shrewdly. "But you have refrained from telling him that the Prince is a man of your own race. Why?"

"What would be gained? It is your secret and Temu's and the Prince's." She shook her head wonderingly. "I don't understand. Your country possesses strong, native men, yet, you struggle and fight to keep a man like this missionary's son on the throne." She resolved to sound him out. "Sherdock, I might be interested in seeing a man like Temu Darin as ruler of Shani Lun."

He smiled slightly. "I see you're a strong-headed girl, but then we need strong heads in this world. They become wise through use and reflection. Some day you will comprehend that a higher power makes the plan and you and I and Temu Darin follow the design."

"You're a fatalist," she said and left him. The men were breaking camp.

A camel-puller brought her the same animal she had ridden from Pallichao to Watch Tower Wells.

Presently Lynn noticed with a little feeling of compunction that Temu's beloved black bactrian had also been taken in the raid on the camp at Watch Tower Wells. Though at the low ebb of his vitality, due to the moulting season, the animal was acting ugly, grinding his teeth and rolling his eyes and refusing to obey the young Buriat trying to subdue and mount him.

Desert Tragedy

Suddenly the beast lashed out. the man went down, his face crushed and chest caved in. Companions rushed to save him but too late. Already flesh and blood mingled with the mud of the desert.

The animal, as if sensing that he had completed his task, broke wildly through the men and fled across the desert. The men stood strangely silent.

Dick was cursing wildly but the Mongols accepted the tragedy apathetically. "We did wrong to steal him from Temu Darin," they said. "The devil spirit of a man resides in his personal camel and if that master be a strong man, no enemy, unless he be stronger, can mount the beast."

Lynn rode that day with a sense of deep depression. They were skirting a high mountain range that separated them from the border region of Shani Lun. It was a particularly desolate strip of country as if, at some time in the past cruel and inhuman deeds had been committed along this ancient, pilgrim road and the spirit of murder and madness still lingered to haunt the men who passed.

Sherdock rode a little detached from the rest near the head of the column. The Duke of Sachto rode dejectedly at the rear. Between them the men were particularly quarrelsome. Once Dick was compelled to take his whip to a pair on horseback who were flashing knives at each other. Lynn urged her animal forward to the side of Chin Pak who rode a tall, rangy mule.

"So you deserted Temu Darin?" she said. His eyes shifted, then he spoke.

"Yes, Missie."

"He trusted you."

Chin Pak dropped his head. "I loyal to the Tara."

She eyed him sharply. "You mean that, Chin Pak? You're loyal to me?"

"Yes, Missie."

She lowered her voice. "Loyal to me above my brother?"

"Yes, Missie. He say I come with him I serve the Tara."

Lynn's pulses quickened, evidently she had found a friend. She was beginning to see into the psychology of these people, and she did have power among them if only she could use it wisely.

At sunset they came into a different type of country and made camp at the base of a steep, red mountain where a spring gushed out and watered a grove of false phoenix trees, the men shouted and sang at their work like children on a holiday, a complete reversal of the feeling of the day.

Then Sherdock made his announcement. "My time has come. I shall die tonight," he said.

Lynn's first impulse was to laugh. As if a man could die by simply making up his mind to do so. But the sudden look of apprehension that came into Dick's eyes when he received the message sobered her.

"Such a thing is impossible!" she cried.

"Oh no it isn't. Not among primitive people. If Sherdock chooses to die, he can surely do it."

"I wouldn't call Sherdock primitive. He's more highly civilized than any man I know."

"He possesses the personal powers of aboriginal people. But, if he thinks he can force me into a compromise, he's badly fooled. I still have you to represent the gods and if he compels us to, we'll carry his body to Delun in state and collect tribute all along the way. I have this thing cinched. I'm going through with it, nothing can stop me. Go tell him what I said."

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Fighting Tooth Decay

What is the "Iowa diet" for the prevention and treatment of tooth decay?

Boyd recently has reviewed the results of studies by himself and the late Dr. Charles Drain, relative to the prevention and arrest of caries of the dentin, in the presence of diets adequate in the "protective" foods. On observations of over 250 children, over a period of years, these investigations have observed that caries, which has already passed beyond the tooth enamel and has invaded the dentin, can be arrested in as short a period as ten weeks, and the caries judged as definitely inactive, when adequately protective diets are fed. The daily food components of this so-called "Iowa Diet," are as follows:

One quart of milk per day
One egg
One ounce of butter
One teaspoon of cod liver oil the year round
Two vegetables, one being raw
Fresh fruits

Intestinal Flu

Is intestinal flu, when it occurs, always associated with influenza of the chest?

"Intestinal flu" is a kind of slang term used by doctors to designate an epidemic of mild dysentery occurring in the winter which has been prevalent in the United States for the past few winters. Nobody really knows its nature, and it might as well be called intestinal flu as anything. Bacteriologists do not recognize it because bacteriologists do not know the germ that causes influenza. Intestinal complaints are very unusual in epidemics of actual influenza. The only danger in the use of the term is that it will be applied carelessly to cases which are actually appendicitis or other forms of organic disease.

Brittle Fingernails

What are the causes and treatment of brittle fingernails?

This is one of the frequent questions sent to me which is easier asked than answered. The doctors have a name for it, however — onychorrhexis — little as they know about it. It is due to a malformation of the nail plate. Any chronic disease is likely to cause brittleness. Also any disturbance of nutrition.

Repeated slight injuries may also be the cause—the nails crack or break, thus keeping up a partial exposure of the nailbed. To prevent or treat, it may be necessary to keep the nails protected with some such covering as heavy adhesive plaster, continuously day and night—and for a long time. Improvement in general health is always followed by improvement in the "tone" of fingernails. Nutritious diets containing Vitamins A and D and milk to supply calcium are indicated; if the cause is a local infection with fungus growths, local antiseptic applications or x-ray.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIMING OHIO

But Admit Outcome Will Be Close; State Given Lots of Attention.

By The Associated Press

...MBUS, O., Oct. 30—Ohio ... politically punch drunk, ... under unprecedented campaign ... of Democrats and Re... for her highly coveted ... votes.

... parties, publicly claiming ...tely admit the outcome ... Her returns in next ... election will be watched ... for only twice—1884 and 1892—have the state's electoral votes failed to go to the winning presidential candidate.

For six weeks voters have undergone a relentless hammering of words from the parties' top-notch orators.

A national cross-section of political sentiment because of diversified agriculture, labor and industrial interests, Ohio got more attention this year from Franklin D. Roosevelt and Wendell L. Willkie than from any presidential candidates since the Bryan-McKinley race in 1896, veteran observers said.

Record Vote Seen

Despite intense interest in the presidential race—which Secretary of State George M. Neffner predicted would attract a record vote—it failed to dull major state contests.

Mr. Roosevelt's third term try and his New Deal administration were prime issues in the U. S. senatorial campaign between Cleveland's Republican mayor, Harold H. Burton, and John McSweeney, former Democratic congressman from Wooster. They seek the seat of Sen. Vic Donahey (D), who is retiring.

Riding atop the 1936 Roosevelt landslide, Democrat Martin L. Davey won a second term as governor by defeating Republican John W. Bricker. Now Bricker is governor, elected in 1938 as Ohio went overwhelmingly Republican, and the Kent tree surgeon is making a "comeback" try.

Their campaign for reelection has been blistering. Davey extolled his administration as one of the finest in Ohio's history and charged that Bricker economized at the expense of the needy. Bricker, asserting that Democrats repudiated Davey's regime by defeating him for renomination in 1938, replied that the relief problem was handled adequately.

Willkie Here Again

Willkie yesterday addressed a southern Ohio rural audience on his fourth trip into this pivotal state and Saturday night Mr. Roosevelt makes another of his major political speeches in Cleveland, a New Deal stronghold which Republicans have been bombarding vigorously. Henry A. Wallace, Democratic vice presidential candidate, tours eastern Ohio Friday on his second visit.

The President received political "soundings" from party leaders earlier in the month while inspecting Ohio industrial defense projects in Youngstown and air corps testing units at Dayton.

For the first time since 1928 Ohioans will vote separate presidential and state tickets. The ballots were separated on Governor Brickr's contention that the split would insure a state election on state issues. With the one ballot in 1936 Davey beat Bricker by only 126,000 votes while Mr. Roosevelt polled a plurality of 620,000—and Republicans maintained the President "carried" Davey to victory.

Also for the first time in recent years minor parties failed to quality for the ballot.

Council Considers Light Plant Employes' Request for Pay Increase.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 30—A hearing in response to a petition to city council by employes of the Galion Municipal Light and Power plant for higher wages and better working conditions, was held Tuesday night in the council chamber.

About 40 citizens were present besides members of council. The hearing brought to Galion, W. H. Wilson of Cuyahoga Falls, a representative and organizer of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, an affiliate of the A.F.L.

With Councilman Merrit McElroy presiding, Wilson presented the request of the light plant employes and said that according to the wages of other cities, the local workers should have the increase for which they ask.

The petition calls for a pay hike for 22 employes of the light plant and linemen, an average of 15 cents per hour increase being asked. Eight hour days, six days per week, with time and a half for over-time and on Sundays and holidays and two weeks vacation with pay for all employes, were requests included in the petition.

Electric light employes petitioned for a pay hike some time ago and at that time received a raise, averaging five cents an hour and a week's vacation. They came back with another petition asking for another increase which was not granted. Later they organized a union on Aug. 19, before presenting the last petition to council.

Among those who spoke were Harry Dye, superintendent of utilities, who said that it was true that wages and rates here are lower than in many other places.

Councilman Arthur Conners said that he felt that the men were justified in asking for a wage increase and that it should be granted them.

Thomas Maidens, finance chairman of council, pointed out that the bonded indebtedness as against the net profit of the plant would not make it advisable to grant the request. He estimated that it would increase the city payroll some $750 per month to grant the request.

Walter Williams, an employe of the plant, and recording secretary of the union, said that more kilowatts are now being consumed by electric light users than ever before in the history of the plant, and that with this much consumption of electricity it should be possible to meet the requests of the petition.

Councilman Harry Volk explained that if a wage increase was granted, then an increase in light rates for consumers would be necessary.

McElroy explained the needs of the plant and necessity of installing new equipment, making it necessary for a substantial reserve fund which, unless rates were increased, or new taxes levied, the wage increase would not be possible.

Mayor W. M. King also advocated that if wages were raised, rates would have to be increased too. He explained that it was a problem that would take some consideration by council.

Officers of the local union of electrical workers are: president, Paul Sells; vice president, Francis Craner; financial secretary and treasurer, Harry Sherer; recording secretary, Walter Williams.

Let's Talk About Some Good Legislation

I trust my opponent, Mr. Sam Almendinger, who is grasping at the last straw will tell you about some of our so-called Ripper Legislation.

I supported all of these measures which saved millions of dollars, and we used them to clean up the mess for which he was partly responsible two years ago. These Ripper Bills were used to pay off the deficit in the School Foundation fund, plus many others, created under his administration. Where does he stand on the repeal of sales tax? He is running on that plank. What will he tax in its place? He will tax you farmers, you home owners, you business men large and small and you laboring men. (You Old Age Pensioners, where will your money come from?)

The greater part of this $50,000,000.00 loss will be made up by taxing all businesses—large and small—100% on their tangible Personal property instead of 50% as at present.

You have a right to know before election day.

of the intersection and struck the utility pole.

The patrolmen reported that only minor damage resulted to the truck.

LaRue Man Injured

Ott Terry of LaRue suffered numerous body bruises when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck at the intersection of Routes 95 and 203 four miles west of Marion about 2:30 p. m. yesterday. The truck overturned but the driver, Robert Anderson of 209 Park boulevard, escaped unhurt.

Highway patrolmen were told the Terry car hit the rear section of the truck when Mr. Anderson slowed down to make a left turn from Route 95 onto Route 203.

The truck, loaded with coal, overturned on the highway, scattering the coal over a large section of the road, the patrolmen reported. Mr. Terry was taken to his home where he was treated by a physician.

BUCYRUS MINISTER NO. 1 ON DRAFT LIST

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Oct. 30—Rev. L. L. Zimmerman of Bucyrus and Raymond McDonald of Galion head the conscription lists of Crawford county's two draft boards, holding registration No. 158, the last drawn in the national draft lottery yesterday.

Rev. Zimmerman, pastor of the Nazarene church here, has order No. 1 for the Bucyrus city draft board. Second is Wayne Swihart, a railroad employe, who held registration No. 192, and third is Homer Hunter, a laborer, who held registration No. 105. All three are married and officials expressed the opinion that they will be given a deferred rating. Rev. Zimmerman's profession also makes him eligible for deferment.

Mr. McDonald is first on the list of the Crawford county rural draft board, serving all sections of the county outside the city of Bucyrus. Lattie Graves of near Bucyrus is second on this list and James Fetzer of New Washington is third.

ICC REPORT ATTACKS ISSUE OF C. & O. STOCK

stantially higher than for the first call.

General Light said those in the first call would undergo physical examinations at the induciton centers to which they first report. Those rejected would be replaced from their local boards and given class 1B rating, making them subject to call for limited service, he explained.

From the induction centers, the men will go to the Ft. Thomas reception center for outfitting and classification in the various military service branches. Most of them then will be sent to camp Shelby, Miss., to bring the 37th division, Ohio national guard, up to full strength there, it was indicated.

General Light said he expected Fort Hayes and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., to be outfitted soon as additional reception centers.

tween Spain's chief of state, Generalissimo Francisco Franco and Adolph Hitler.

German air raiders continued to strike at England during the night, but London had long intervals of quiet before the assaults finally tapered off before dawn. The attacks began again shortly before noon.

RAF Keeps Busy

The British air ministry reported that despite adverse weather the royal air force again had "attacked a number of targets in Germany, including some in the Berlin area" overnight. The Nazis acknowledged British raiders had flown over northern Germany, but said none had reached Berlin.

Nazis in Berlin asserted without amplication that German U-boats had torn a "disastrous hole" in British naval forces, and Hitler's high command said a German warship operating "overseas" had sunk three armed "enemy merchantship' totaling 18,400 tons.

The London air ministry said RAF warplanes, flying through "thick mist and severe icing conditions," bombed Berlin, Homburg, Sterkrade, Madgeburg, Bremen, Wilhelmshaven, Den Helder, Ymuiden, Flushing and Ostend.

German raiders, after subjecting London's millions to their fifty-third consecutive nightly assault, renewed the attack shortly before noon, bombing London and the Midlands.

A British communique said that the German night raiders machine-gunned streets at several points and that salvos of incendiary bombs started "many fires" in two Midland towns.

"In yesterday's air battles, 27 enemy aircraft were destroyed," the communique said. "Our losses were seven fighter aircraft and only two pilots."

REPORTS DIFFER ON BRITISH TROOP MOVES

By The Associated Press

ANKARA, TURKEY, Oct. 29—(Delayed)—The British information office said today that British naval detachments had landed on the Greek island of Crete and on the island of Cephanolia, south of Corfu.

(British sources in London deny that "troops" have been landed on Greek islands.)

Turkish officials were silent on this nation's attitude toward the Italo-Greek conflict, but the official newspaper Ulus said Turkey was "whole-heartedly with Greece," and the newspaper Yeni Sabah added: "Turkey will...If need be, know her duty to give all aid" to Greece.

The latter periodical also warned Bulgaria to stay out, declaring: "should Bulgaria try an adventure toward the Aegean, she will be faced by the Turkish army."

HAGUE AND SEN. TOBEY BATTLE AT HEARING

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 30—A United States senate subcommittee's investigation of election fraud charges in Jersey City and other parts of New Jersey, was denounced and ridiculed by Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City yesterday as a "ten cent picayune political" inquiry intended to deprive President Roosevelt of the state's 16 electoral votes.

Recriminations flew fast and furiously between Hague and Senator Tobey (R-N.H.), consuming so much of th etwo-hour session that little time was left to the question of fraud. After the turbulent hearing, to which Hague was subpoenaed when he refused to appear voluntarily, the committee adjourned until after election.

FORMER POLICEMAN ACCUSED AT CANTON

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., Oct. 30—A former policeman and three other men were indicted by a grand jury yesterday for receiving and concealing stolen property. Two of the men were accused of stealing the property.

Jack Dye, 26, arrested by state highway patrolmen at Steubenville after a high-speed automobile chase, was discharged from the Canton police force several months ago. Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmeh charged him with being in possession of 16 new tires reported stolen from a service station here.

HIGHWAY WORKMAN HURT AT GREEN CAMP

Earl Burkard of Near Ostrander Falls from Tank Car.

Earl Burkard, 51, of near Ostrander, a state highway department employe, suffered serious foot injuries at Green Camp yesterday afternoon in a fall from a railroad tank car on which he was working.

He was taken to Jane Case hospital at Delaware for treatment and attendants there reported today his condition is "just fairly good." They said he suffered fractures of several bones in the right foot and a fractured left heel.

Mr. Burkard, together with other highway workers, were unloading tar from a tank car near the Green Camp elevator about 1 p. m. and a rope on which Mr. Burkard was suspended broke, witnesses reported. Mr. Burkard was nearly on top of the car but was forced to jump. He ws taken to the hospital in the W. C. Boyd & Co. ambulance from Marion.

WILLKIE

particularly after they have only been on the American shores for a few hours."

Willkie drove to the Charleston city auditorium through streets lined with crowds.

Miners Cheer Willkie

A delegation from the United Mine Workers of America, wearing miners' caps, sat on the stage behind the nominee. When Willkie said he was glad to be in their presence, the men arose and applauded.

All 5000 seats in the auditorium were filled and many persons stood.

Willkie repeatedly referred to Mr. Roosevelt's decision on defense matters, contending that the chief executive had failed to start armament factories operating soon enough, had refused to observe "warnings" from the army that more money was needed, and had told congress to go home last June when additional appropriations were needed.

The Republican nominee devoted much of his talk to the Charleston naval ordnance plant, which, he said, Mr. Roosevelt visited recently "on one of his non-political inspection trips."

The plant stood idle until October, 1939, Willkie said, when a contract was made to put it in working order. He added:

"The third - term candidate prates of the state department listening posts in Europe that transmit information to Washington. That's the way he acts on the information. Similar instances are manifold.

Work Long Delayed

"And it was not until last June, not until after France had been conquered and England was standing with her back against the wall—not until then that operations for the production of armor plate were actually begun.

"That disarmament of us by boondoggling neglect is not compensated for by the fact that the third-term candidate was once assistant secretary of the navy, and had his picture taken beside the useless plant."

Previously, Willkie had quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying that construction of the ordnance plant had started when he was secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration.

Although asserting that the whole country was aroused to "the dangers that confronted us," Willkie said that last June Mr. Roosevelt "told congress that it might as well go home; there was nothing more for it to do....

"People of America, are you going to return such an administration to power again—an administration that keeps our safety on order?"

The Republican nominee said that while Mr. Roosevelt asked for a $100,000,000 increase in national defense appropriations in 1937, he also requested $1,500,000,000 for relief of men "who would have been glad to help build our defense program at a decent wage."

"That is the way the third-term candidate planed emphasis on national defense," he added. "That is his record."

3 RURAL RESIDENTS HEAD MORROW CO. DRAFT LIST

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Oct. 30—Three rural residents held the draft registration numbers which will place them at the head of the line of Morrow county conscripts for military training. Order No. 1 went to Paul Eugene Miller, 23, unmarried, who lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller on their Cardington township farm. No. 2 and No. 3, respectively, went to Ralph Dale Stults, 28, married, no children, driver for Nestle's milk plant at Sunbury, residence in Cardington township, and Edward Brown, 28, of Bennington, married, unemployed and the father of five children.

OHIO GUARDSMEN START ACTIVE WORK AT SHELBY

By The Associated Press

CAMP SHELBY, Miss., Oct. 30—Ohio National Guardsmen began their year of military training yesterday with instructions about heavy weapons.

Anti-tank and anti-aircraft technique, artillery engineering and chemical warfare will be mastered by the guardsmen who in turn will instruct the first military conscripts mustered for training.

Next Monday the entire division will begin 13 weeks of training with ordinary arms.

DRAWING

capsule taken from glass jar on Oct. 30 contained serial number 5572—the 5,501st number to be drawn.

All arbitrary calculations were necessarily complicated by the fact that 1,164 of the numbers drawn for the lottery jar were higher than those held by any known registrant in the country. The highest yet reported was 7,836, held by a man in the Baltimore area.

(The 1,164 extra numbers were added to cover late registrations, or possible errors.)

Local draft boards will ignore any numbers which are higher than their total local registration, making them blanks on the local list which shows the order in which their particular registrants are subject to call.

Once this has been done, officials believe, it will be found that an average of 650 men will be examined in each of the 6,175 local board areas to obtain the first year's quota. Of these 650 men an average of 130 men per board area will be needed to meet the first year's quota. It was emphasized, however, that the actual number of men examined and the actual number of men called may vary widely from board area to board area, depending on the size of the area's registration.

Although the exact size of the smallest local list of registrants in the country is not known here, it was considered probable that every one of the 6,175 areas has a registrant holding 158 — the historic first number—unless a mistake was made in numbering the registration cards.

PRODUCE TRUCKER QUIZZED IN SLAYING

Explains Action in Detail as Alibi to Charge.

By The Associated Press

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 30—A 55-year-old produce trucker gave authorities a minute-by-minute account of his activities as an alibi today against suspected connection with the strangling of Mrs. Julia Wall, 48, whose body was found in a potato barrel.

Police Chief Hugh J. McDermott said the man would be charged formally and arranged late today before Municipal Judge Frank E. Grosshans.

Mrs. Wall was married five days ago. She formerly was a friend and employe of the suspect. His business consists of buying produce, loading it on his truck and peddling it either wholesale or retail.

The warm body of Mrs. Wall, feet protruding from the barrel, was found by a pedestrian early yesterday along a cinder lane 75 yards off a paved street. Chief McDermott said it apparently was thrown from a vehicle but stopped short of a thicket into which it was intended to roll.

Mrs. Hall lived at Smith's Ferry, Pa. Two years ago she divorced James Jordan, now dead. She clerked for the produce dealer before marrying Christopher Wall, 63, a steel worker. She came here to get spectacles left for repair.

McDermott quoted Wall as saying the produce dealer called him Sunday and said Mrs. Wall owed him $200. He asked Wil to pay.

It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthens the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

Large Inguinal Hernia or rupture following surgical operation especially solicited.

Again Turning to My Opponent's Record—

Let us examine Ohio House Journal dated April 13, 1939, page 734, report of The Committee on Mileage. A few weeks after the assembly convenes each member is given a form on which to record his or her mileage to and from the Capitol from his or her home. This puts each member on his honor. Now what does the record say with reference to Marion County's representative:

54 miles or 108 miles for the round trip. The sign post at the corner of Columbia and Main Streets has painted on it 44 miles or 88 for the round trip, a difference of 20 miles more than the actual distance between these two points.

Mr. Voter, does this report merit a THIRD TERM? You be the judge.

III—Production

This is another in a series of editorials summing up the qualifications of Wendell L. Willkie to be president of the United States.

REAL jobs in real enterprise—real farm relief in the form of more buying power—these are Wendell Willkie's pledges to America.

He knows what everybody knows—that New Deal pump-priming and subsidies haven't cured anything. He asks his countrymen to remember that the war boom isn't going to cure anything either, because it is just another form of pump-priming using the people's money, only more of it. When the war boom's over, the job of putting America to work on productive enterprise still will have to be done.

Willkie promises nothing to those who think the United States should be a free lunch counter, with themselves as the steady customers. This country, he declares, became wealthy through the industry, thrift and enterprise of its people and will never regain its prosperity in any other way. But the New Deal, having discovered the political advantage of winning gratitude by handouts, is reluctant to face facts. It is like a quack doctor keeping his patient in bed to keep himself in favor.

Real jobs and real buying power demand constant expansion of private enterprise. They have been stymied by the New Deal policy of business-baiting. The historic Democratic principle that government properly is an umpire in economic life, letting the people play the game, has been ditched under the Roosevelt administration. It has adopted the theory of state socialism, which calls for the umpire to be the whole show. Four years ago Mr. Roosevelt boasted that in his first term certain groups had met their match and in his second would meet their master. America isn't ready for any political masters yet.

Wendell Willkie refuses to believe Big Government is any better than Big Business. He thinks both should be hammered down to size. He insists that government should be ordered to resume its proper function as umpire, that the greatest days of private enterprise are still ahead, that the possibilities of efficient production for the benefit of all the people haven't even been approached yet.

Constitutional democracy, he says, cannot be preserved, as France tried to preserve its democracy, by a Maginot line of armament protecting confusion and political corruption within. The United States must be made strong internally while it is being made strong externally. This can be done only by expanding opportunities for all classes to produce more goods for common consumption. Production is the theme of the Willkie campaign.

To delegates in the Republican national convention after his nomination for the presidency, Mr. Willkie said:

"Democracy, and our way of life, is facing the most crucial test it has ever faced in all its long history; and we are here not as Republicans alone, but as Americans to dedicate ourselves to the democratic way of life because here stands the last firm, untouched foothold of freedom in all the world. As your nominee I expect to conduct a crusading, aggressive, fighting campaign to bring unity to America, to bring the unity of labor and capital, of agriculture and industry, of farmer and worker, the unity of all classes to this great cause of the preservation of freedom."

He has kept that promise.

Shell Game

IT DOESN'T take a career diplomat or even a dollar diplomat to see how the Germans, who used to be diplomatic bunglers, have used helpless France to put Great Britain and the United States over a barrel.

The plan is beautifully simple. France, a puppet state, is forced to serve German interests, but the intended victims, being at peace with France, can do nothing about it until they have shelved legality. Germany is counting on delay in reaching the conclusion to shelve legality to make the plan work. It is counting on Great Britain and the United States to play into its hands by failing to see that France has no independence of action.

The British, apparently, are not going to be fooled. They already have acted against the French navy and tried, unsuccessfully, to capture the vital French naval base at Dakar, in Africa. The United States must be equally realistic about Guadeloupe, Martinique, French Guiana, St. Pierre and Miquelon. On June 17, the senate ratified a resolution declaring the United States would not acquiesce in any transfer of territory in this continent from one non-American power to another. On June 19, the United States called a Pan-American conference the following month for joint action on the problems presented by the resolution. While the shell game contemplated by Germany in the case of French possessions was not described specifically as something the conference would not tolerate, it plainly was the opinion of the 21 republics represented that they should present a solid front to attempts to spread war into this hemisphere.

News Behind the News

Turkey, Not Greece, Seen as Target of New Nazi-Italian Drive.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — The Greeks have no word for their army. It is the worst in Europe. Only the Rumanian is possibly as badly equipped.

While the mountainous terrain afforded them every prospect of slow retreat, there was no authority here who thought they could look any way but back, when the Italian blow first fell upon them.

The common expectation then was that the Greek government could eventually be forced to retire to the protection of hastily imported British guns upon islands to the south, possibly Crete.

Paul Mallon

Mussolini's stroke will at least stop the Italian people from speculating as to what happened to the so-called terrific drive which General Graziani has been conducting kneedeep in Egyptian sand.

You will remember that terrific thing started Sept. 14 with extravagant advertising in the Fascist press. Headlines sponsored by Mussolini's G. H. Q. told of brilliant conquests of British sand dunes which were really undefended.

The secret has been fairly well kept even from the outside world, but the fact is Graziani bogged down in the sand about half way from Sidi Barran to Maltruh, first fortified British position. Shelling of his single road of supplies through the desert by the British fleet and the problem of water supply made him considerably less terrific than advertised. His failure was covered by almost daily reports from the front that he has been preparing new roads outside the range of British vessels.

Turkey Is Goal

The substitute goals which Adolf and Benito are seeking in the near East, in lieu of their failure in England, are far below the heights of their primary ambitions.

All that Greece has to offer are landing fields and submarine bases for Italian operations against the British fleet off Alexandria.

The real objective is Turkey, as Turkey well knew. The dream of Teutonic expansion there was borrowed by Hitler from the Kaiser. The Kaiser's old idea of a railroad from Berlin to Bagdad and the oil fields of Persia has now been realized and will be useful to Hitler as soon as the road can be wrested from Turkish hands.

The Turks let the British understand beforehand they preferred to fight on their own soil rather than to help Greece or Bulgaria.

Democratic Groans

Groans and groans are coming out of the transom of Democratic headquarters here. The lads are arguing among themselves as to how much better the campaign could have been run. Chief inner complaint is that Mr. Roosevelt should have started earlier, especially on the peace line. The threats of crisis involving the United States were promoted vigorously at the outset of the campaign as a justification for the third term. Not until Mr. Roosevelt's long delayed first speech on the stump in Philadelphia was the switch to the peace motif accomplished to meet the "He'll get us in to war" charges by Republicans.

The technicians are inclined to blame new National (Chairman Flynn) for the current hiatus. Flynn does not have the personal contacts scattered in every precinct throughout the country as did Farley, to keep in closest touch with what is going on.

Another common complaint is that the party wheelhorses have been taking it far too easy for the good of their cause.

3rd Term Opposition

Hints are increasing that a secret opposition to the third term may become evident next Tuesday. A Democratic figure here, known to have strongly opposed the third term, was surprised to find in his mail a letter enclosing 50 cents from a WPA worker. It was folded in cardboard and bound with rubber bands. Several similar contributions of dollar bills have been received by the same source.

The writers asked that the money be considered as campaign contributions and suggested their motive was to obtain better jobs. The contributions will be officially registered.

That Was Chic Harley

By James Thurber in PM

OUT in Columbus, O., this week there has been no joy. On top of Northwestern's victory came Ohio State's humbling by Minnesota and again by Cornell. It is still raining in Columbus. If they couldn't win for God, for country, or for Ohio, the people of Columbus will be saying, they should have won for Harley. And eyes will light up at the name, and the people will fall silent.

Away back in 1905, when I was not yet in my teens, Ohio State was a small university, unfamed on the gridiron. Once every November for many Novembers the Scarlet and Grey was soundly trounced by Michigan. A fullback in those days named Millard Gibson was famous for having scored on Michigan; that was something. For the rest, Ohio State played Wooster, Oberlin, Case, Western Reserve, Otterbein, and, on Thanksgiving day, Kenyon. The Kenyon game frequently ended in a pitched battle in which players and spectators took part; now and then even the ladies would wham somebody over the head with an umbrella. Thus, it went, Ohio State's obscure little part in the American football scene, up to 1916. In that year Ohio was admitted to the Western conference, which was one step above being admitted to the Union.

ON the Ohio team that year was a young man named Charles W. Harley, from Chicago. Chic (you must not add the "k") was not very tall and weighed only 104 pounds, but he was the greatest football player we Ohioans have ever seen and, we like to add, belligerently, we have seen them all.

If you never saw Chic Harley run with a football, we Ohioans could not describe it for you. It wasn't like Grange or Harmon or anybody else. It was a kind of cross between music and cannon fire, and it brought your heart up under your ears. He could pass and punt and place kick and block and tackle, but it was his running that got you. Usually in the last few seconds of a game he would get away like a flame and score the winning touchdown. He was closer to the Merriwells than any player in history, for that reason. He won the Conference championship in Ohio's maiden year in the Big Ten. He beat Michigan to avenge a quarter century of defeats. Camp put him on his All-America. Columbus went raving crazy.

THE only game he lost was his last one against Illinois in his senior year. It broke the city's heart. I ran into a Columbus friend out there a year ago who began, just after we had greeted each other, "I can see him now, the tears in his eyes, and everybody crying, and the team crying, and everybody in the stands crying. The name of Chic Harley is still on the tip of everybody's tongue in Columbus.

Mr. Joe Williams of this city was in Columbus recently and he looked up L. W. St. John, Ohio State's director of athletics. After they had shaken hands, St. John began, "Harmon of Michigan and Scott of Ohio State are good—as standards are measured today, probably great, but they can't class with Chic Harley. He could do anything that Harmon and Scott can do and do it better. He was the biggest footballer that ever lived," You tell 'em, Saint, I'm right here behind you.

The War a Year Ago

OCT. 30, 1939
By The United Press

German submarines struck five ships having an estimated tonnage of 13,000 tons. Largest of the liners was the Malabar, 8,465 ton British freighter, whose crew of 75 men made to the boats. All but five were rescued. Two British fish trawlers, a Norwegian freighter and a Finnish liner were the other victims of U-boats.

The City of Flint, a Nazi swastika flying from her mast, sailed from the Norwegian port of Tromsoe, headed towards an un-named German seaport. The British blockade threatened the ship and the safety of the American crew of 40 men held prisoners by the German prize crew.

Great Britain's White Paper described Nazi horrors of the war. The Western Front was described in communiques as having "activity along the front."

GREECE SPOTS!

Why I Am Opposing Mr. Roosevelt

By Oswald Garrison Villard

As a lifelong liberal and progressive, a New Dealer before there was a New Deal, an independent Democrat all my life, am opposed to the Roosevelt third term candidacy on many grounds. His re-election, to my mind, will make it certain that the United States will enter the war; that it will become a dictatorship, and that the New Deal will be finished for all time. The reelection of Mr. Roosevelt will at best mean a continuance of inefficiency in government, maladministration, and rapid descent on the road to bankruptcy.

That Mr. Roosevelt would put us into war if he had the chance has been beyond all doubt ever since he made his Chautauqua speech on Aug. 15, 1936, when last a candidate for public office. Then he declared that if war came in Europe two men would decide whether the United States would enter the struggle, the President and his secretary of state, whoever they might be. Since the beginning of hostilities the President has not had the straightforwardness or honesty to come right out and say that he is for war, but has been assuming powers in his capacity as the conductor of our foreign relations and entered into deals which have placed us squarely on the side of England and given the totalitarian powers the right to declare war if they see fit. Never before has a President after declaring this country neutral in a European war made a defensive alliance with one of the warring Powers (Canada) obviously aimed at that country's enemies. No matter what the precedent, the President's purchasing of certain bases in the Caribbean, however, justifiable from the military point of view, cannot be regarded as anything else than a most dangerous extension of the executive power. That there have been no voices raised in the senate in protest does not alter this fact.

THE danger is that the President will put us into war without a declaration of war. More than that, we are witnessing secret diplomacy of the worst kind. If the President ever agreed to Woodrow Wilson's open covenants openly arrived at, he has completely deserted that policy. Actually we heard that the destroyer-naval base deal had gone through only when it was announced in England. Two days before the President admitted that the deal was accomplished he assured the correspondents in Washington that it was not under way. Now from a recent debate in the house of commons we learn that very important negotiations are on between our country and Great Britain in regard to the Pacific, but that they have not reached that point at which announcements can be made. Washington believes that at any moment we shall hear of an offensive and defensive alliance with Canada, which will commit us indefinitely to the maintenance of a vast fleet in the Pacific for the defense of Australia from the Japanese.

The British parliament and public are allowed to know that such negotiations are going on; the American public must remain in ignorance until confronted with an accomplished fact, so that there may be no protests. Yet this is the President who at Chautauqua appealed to the American people to become so peace-minded that if war should come abroad it would not be possible for the President, whoever he might be, to yield to the clamor for war, the chase after the "fools' gold" (his words) to be made from participating in the struggle.

We have no means whatsoever of knowing what our commitments are. We read that for a year past the United States has been piling up spare parts for submarines at Hongkong. There are important rumors that the next revelations will show that we have obtained rights to the British base at Singapore. The secretary of state informs Japan that we have important interest in Indo-China which make us insist that Japan shall not meddle with the status quo there. Whether Guam is being fortified or not at a vast expense we do not know because the congress voted hundreds of millions of dollars to the President for a secret fund to be used as he sees fit—an action never before taken in peace time. Is it any wonder that some of the best informed observers declare that the President is putting us into war by the "back-door", and that he may take a leaf out of the totalitarian book and go in for an undeclared war? That would obviate the necessity of a poll in congress. That would enable him to make good his Chautauqua statement that two men alone can put this country into war, although the Constitution states that the war-making power shall belong solely to congress.

In this article, made available through American Writers For Wendell L. Willkie, one of America's best known liberal journalists, states his reasons for preferring the Republican presidential candidate to President Roosevelt as a third term candidate.

BUT, SOMEONE may ask, why do you think that the situation will be any different if Mr. Willkie is elected? Has he not approved of the President's policies in foreign affairs, is he not berating him for not giving more aid to England?

Both of these questions are justified. Mr. Willkie has gone far in the President's direction, so much so that I know many people utterly opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's conduct of our foreign affairs who cannot make up their minds to vote for Mr. Willkie because they think that there is no choice between the two leading candidates. They say that, with the poet, they would rather bear the ills they have than fly to others that they know not of. To that the answer is that we know the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt means war, and that Mr. Willkie has promised that he will never put us into war unless we are attacked.

There is a very great difference in the characters of the two men. I have never championed Mr. Willkie's corporation policies and have often criticized them, but I do believe that there is a far more straightforward character and a more rugged one than is Mr. Roosevelt's. Perhaps I am wrong; if so, I would frankly rather see America enter the war under Mr. Willkie's leadership than under the President's, just because I hold the latter to be a grossly inefficient administrator, swayed by emotion, without deep principle, and no economic principle whatever, easily influenced by men who operate behind the scenes, without stability, without foresight, without depth.

MEASURES taken since last May in the name of preparedness have obligated the country to expenditures variously estimated at between 14 and 16 billions of dollars. These sums insure a vast production of war material and the raising of a large army. They do not give us the slightest assurance that that army will be efficiently led or maintained and they do not prove the necessity of so large a force to defend the United States.

Hanson Baldwin, military critic of the New York Times, declares that conscription may not be an asset, but a great weakness. No officers have specifically declared that we need an army of two millions to defend the United States.

"Everybody here? Then I HAVE shot a deer!"

Joe Liked the Watch So Took Ethel to Atlantic City and—But Read It Yourself.

By DAMON RUNYON

Mr. Joe Turp Writes From Brooklyn:—

DEAR SIR: Last week was my birthday my wife Ethel gave me a wrist watch a present and I got out the old can and dr her to Atlantic City for the week-end and w we were in bed in a hotel that night she Joe do you like your watch?

I ses it's sweel baby and she ses well know you can see what time it is in the d Look at it now and tell me the time. S looked at the watch but the light from s electric signs outside was shining through windows and the numbers on the watch did not come out good and Ethel ses you h to be some place where it is very dark fo to snow real well. Let's go in the closet shut the door and see.

So we got up and went in the closet shut the door and sure enough the numb showed up very plain and I ses that's sur dandy watch Ethel and I can never thank enough for such a nice birthday present. T when I tried to open the closet door it locked on the outside so we both began pound on the door and holler but we were there for nearly an hour before a maid c in and let us out.

ETHEL ses why didn't you come sooner might have smothered to death in closet. The maid ses why madam I didn't k you were in the closet and I would never h known it if I had not happened to look your room to see if I had remembered to your beds down and then I heard you. Pe don't usually lock themselves in the closets.

Ethel ses do you mean you didn't hea out in the hall? The maid ses no madam until I looked in your room. I have been and down the hall 10 times in the last hour and I did not hear a thing out there.

Ethel ses that's sure funny because we making enough noise to wake the dead thanks anyway and then the maid left and went back to bed and after awhile Ethel Joe I don't believe that maid. She must heard us out in the hall when we were ma all that noise but she let us stay in the c just for meanness. I ses O what's the differ Ethel? I ses we are out aren't we?

Ethel ses well it makes a lot of differ to me. I am going to get up and go in closet and pull the door shut and start ma as much noise as I can and you go out in hall and close the room door and see if can hear me and if you can I will report maid. I ses Ethel let's just go to sleep forget it and she ses no Joe I will neve satisfied until I get this settled.

SO we got up and she went in the closet closed the door and locked herself in and started pounding on the door and he ing and I went out in the hall in my paj and pulled the room door shut after m made a big click when it shut and then membered I did not bring the key with so right away I tried the door and sure en it was locked on the inside.

So there I was out in the hall in my paj and an old dame came along and I start ask her if she would please call up the when she got to her room and tell them I locked out, but she let out a scream and away from me. So finally I went to the ele landing and rang the bell to tell the elevato to get a key and the elevator came up lo with people and they all laughed at me.

After awhile a fellow in a derby hat along and ses what's going on here any I ses who are you? He ses I am the copper and when I told him what had pened he ses this all sounds very peculi me. But finally he got a pass key and le in our room and then I let Ethel out o closet and she ses did you hear me out Joe? I ses Ethel I was so excited over lo myself out I forgot to listen and she ses you would have heard me if you had lis because I made plenty of noise. I gues service in this hotel is just slow Joe.

THEN the house copper says it still s very peculiar to me and went away Ethel and I went back to bed and I had got to sleep when the telephone rang a fellow ses this is the clerk. One of our on the floor below you says she cannot because there is a lot of pounding and y going on in your room.

I ses brother that must have been a of hours ago and he ses yes but I have got around to speaking to you about it. I don't stop it I will have to ask you to Then Ethel woke up and ses what was call Joe? When I told her she ses hah I say the service in this hotel is slow? D still like your watch Joe? I ses good night

Yours truly
Joe

120 AT SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE IN MARION

Fourth in Series of District Sessions Held.

One hundred twenty men and women attended the fourth of the series of Sunday school teachers' institutes of the Marion Local Lutheran conference Monday night at Emanuel Luteran church.

Prof. John O. Lang of Capital university in Columbus, speaking on the importance of a teacher's knowing "the Old Adam as related to Sunday school teaching," stressed the doctrine of original sin and said that much in modern education ignores this doctrine and that the teacher "must remember that there is the old Adam in the best of his pupils."

"God can take a human being conceived and born in sin, adverse to divine things, inclined toward the evil, convert him by grace, wash him in the blood of His Son, put His Spirit in him and make him a blessing to humanity; that is salvation, "Professor Lang declared.

Discussion groups on "How To Prepare the Sunday school Lesson" were led by Rev. Harry Eswine of the Windfall church near Cardington, Rev. J. I. Siem of Upper Sandusky, Rev. Paul E. Dobberstein of Prospect and Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of Emanuel church. Rev. Edgar W. Schuh of the Trinity-St. Paul charge south of Marion conducted the closing service.

Last of the series of institute sessions will be conducted next Monday night at 8.

LEAGUE COUNCIL TO MEET IN BUCYRUS

Salvation Army Group To Hold Rally Nov. 7.

Home Leagues of the Salvation Army in Bucyrus, Marion, Lima, Tiffin and other cities in this part of the state will hold their annual Divisional Home League council and rally at Bucyrus Thursday, Nov. 7. Mrs. Commissioner Damon of New York City will be the guest.

Mrs. Major Joseph Heard, head of the Home League here and members of the organization are planning to attend. In keeping with the Army's program of helping others Mrs. Damon has sent many "bundles" to overseas refugees during the last several months. At the meeting Nov. 7 it is planned to make gifts of clothing for women and children, baby clothes, nightgowns, pajamas, mufflers and other articles to Mrs. Damon for her overseas "bundles." The women of the Marion Home League have made two comforters which will be given to Mrs. Damon at the meeting. Persons interested in contributing articles for the "bundles" may call or leave them at the home of Mrs. Heard at 478 Cherry street or at the Army citadel on West Center street.

An interesting program has been planned for the afternoon and evening session at Bucyrus. Lieutenant Margaret Seevers of Marion will be charge of a women's band made up of musicians from the various Home Leagues. The meeting will be held at the Army citadel.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 1 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach, you get constipated, you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Insist on making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

WOMEN members of the Marion Country club will open their fall and winter series of luncheon card parties Thursday, Nov. 7, at the club, .Mrs. Robert C. Owens and Mrs. Kenneth M. Bower are co-chairmen and they are being assisted by Mrs. W. A. Dennis, Mrs. Mabel C. Owens and Mrs. B. H. Buettin. Luncheon will be at 12:30 o'clock and will be followed by cards. The season's schedule calls for meetings the first and third Thursdays of the month.

"ART as Related to Nature and Philosophy" was the study topic presented by Mrs. Harry J. Merchant at a meeting of Gamma chapter of the Delphian society yesterday at Hotel Harding. The members met for luncheon preceding the study hour.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore entertained with a surprise party last evening at their home at 723 Bennett street in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Mr. Moore's son, Gail and Glenn Moore. A feature of the buffet supper was a cake decorated in keeping with the Halloween season. Present with the celebrants and host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Shupp, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kates, Miss Mabel Gorenflo, Richard and Lee Welch.

Papers on "I Am An American Citizen" by Mrs. Morris C. Richmond and "The Workshop of Congress" by Mrs. Charles Phillen, were presented when members of the Three Arts club met yesterday afternoon at Ringer's Inn on Prospect pike. Mrs. Carl Fisher, president, gave a report on a recent district conference at Coshocton. Mrs. A. H. Koons conducted a sale of articles made by the blind. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Paul Knauss and Mrs. Paul Fetterfield.

Greek and Latin Teachers of State To Open 3-Day Meeting Thursday

Ohio Classical Conference Program To Attract Instructors from All Parts of State.

Arrangements were being completed today for the opening here Thursday afternoon of the nineteenth annual meeting of the Ohio Classical conference, an organization of teachers of Greek and Latin in the public and parochial high schools and colleges of the state.

The meeting will open at 2:30 p. m. in the ballroom of Hotel Harding with Prof. Rodney P. Robinson of the University of Cincinnati, president of the conference, presiding. Sessions will continue through Saturday morning, when officers will be elected.

About 200 members are expected to attend.

Distinguished Speakers

Distinguished speakers will include Prof. George Karo of Oberlin college at Oberlin, O., who will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Roman Historical Reliefs," at the annual dinner for members and guests on Friday night at 6:30 at Hotel Harding.

Supt. E. E. Holt of the Marion public schools will extend a welcome to the conference at the dinner.

Thursday afternoon there will be four lectures, as follows:

W. Robert Jones of Ohio State university, "Avianus and His Fables"; Vergil Hiatt of the College of Wooster, "Eavesdropping in Roman Comedy"; Paul R. Murphy of Mount Union college, "Prerequisite: Two Years of Latin"; LeRoy A. Campbell of Hiram college, "Initiation Rites in the Mithraic Mysteries." Professor Campbell's lecture will be illustrated.

Thursday night at 8 members of the conference will be guests of the city schools at an informal reception and entertainment at Thomas A. Edison Junior High school.

Friday Session

Miss Dorothy M. Seeger of Rayen High school in Youngstown, a member of the Ohio Latin Service committee, will preside for the session Friday at 9:15 a. m. at Central Junior High school. Speakers will include Prof. Paul C. Roundy of Western Reserve Academy, who will speak on "Ancient and Modern Community Citizenship." The noon luncheon will be served at First Presbyterian church.

At the Friday afternoon session in Central Junior High school speakers will include Prof. Marcus S. Goldman of the University of Illinois, who will lecture on "Graecum est: non legitur."

WEDDINGS

Marion Couple Married 50 Years Mark Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. S. M. MIDGLEY of 455 South Prospect street celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home yesterday. They received their friends informally throughout the day and were the recipients of congratulatory messages, greetings, flowers and gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Midgley came to Marion from Galion 28 years ago. Mrs. Midgley, who was Miss Laura Wynkoop before her marriage, was born at West Jefferson. Mr. Midgley was born in England and came to this country when he was four years old. He spent his boyhood at Mechanicsburg. They have one son, M. W. Midgley of Cleveland.

Mr. Midgley was for many years a passenger conductor with the Erie Railroad Co., retiring June 17, 1937. He is a 50-year member of Buckeye Lodge No. 35, Order of Railroad Trainmen, and belongs to the Masonic organizations. Mrs. Midgley is a member of Circle 3 of the Women's Society for Christian Service of Epworth Methodist church, the Inasmuch circle of King's Daughters, Lydia Chapter No. 83, Order of the Eastern Star, a charter member of Marion Shrine No. 15, White Shrine of Jerusalem, Whitney Lodge No. 846, Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and a past grand officer of the national organization. She also is a member of the Women's Benefit association and served as a past chief of the Pythian Sisters and a past noble grand of the Rebekah Lodge.

MARK 50TH ANNIVERSARY

MR. AND MRS. J. A. SCHROETER

AN ANNIVERSARY mass this morning at 8 o'clock celebrated by Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary Catholic church, was in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Schroeter of 417 East Center street.

Because of the illness of Mr. Schroeter no formal observance of the anniversary was planned. Joining Mr. and Mrs. Schroeter for the occasion are their five children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Schroeter, Mrs. Bernard S. Brady and Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Schroeter of Cleveland, Mrs. Richard Edmondson and John C. Schroeter of New York City.

They also have 16 grandchildren. They are Edward, Ann, Jack, Mary Jo, Jane and Kay Schroeter, children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Schroeter, Mary, Nancy, Kitty, Peter and Jimmy Brady, children of Mrs. Bernard S. Brady, Barbara and Bobby Schroeter, children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Schroeter, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edmondson's children, Dick, Bob and Joan Edmondson.

As Miss Catherine Huber, the bride of 50 years ago, became Mrs. John A. Schroeter in a nuptial mass solemnized by Rev. Father James A. Burns in the old St. Mary Catholic church on North Prospect street. Their attendants were Miss Nona Fahey who later became the wife of Mrs. Schroeter's brother, the late Frank A. Huber, and Mr. Schroeter's brother, Charles A. Schroeter.

Mrs. Schroeter is the daughter of the late Edward Huber, inventor, one of the founders of the Huber Manufacturing Co. and Mrs. Huber. With Mr. Schroeter she moved into the Huber family home at 417 East Center street a year after their marriage.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

The Chief Displays the Queen's Emeralds and Olina Rejects Her Mother's Suggestion They Be Sold.

I WENT back to Olga's door at a much slower gait than that with which I had raced from it. Though I brought with me the boon she coveted for Olina, I was afraid that it would be outweighed by the knowledge that she could not give her fiance in private the tidings of the emeralds being found.

Lillian and Olga were standing where I had left them. Lillian gave me a quizzical look as I came up to them.

I gave them my father's messages, and if Olga were disappointed in the one which concerned Philip Veritzen, she concealed it beautifully.

"But that is wonderful about Olina," she said. "In about an hour, you say. But what must I tell her? She is not dressed, and she must not delay your father when he sends for her."

The Meeting

"Just tell her to dress at once," I told her, "for my father's 'hour' is sometimes elastic. It would be better for her to get ready immediately, and then wait in your rooms until one of us comes for her."

"Will you excuse me, please?" she said, and opening the door of her room she went in, and through the open door we heard her low voice giving the message. There was an ejaculation from Olina: "I can't," and the firm reply, "You must," and then she was back again, with the door closed upon her daughter.

"She will be ready," she said.

"Then let us take you to Phil," I said, and Lillian and I walked with her to the door of my room where the famous theatrical manager, looking very handsome and impressive, was waiting for her.

"Olga!" he said, holding out his hands. As she put hers into them, Lillian and I slipped away to a hall seat and waited until nearly the time named by my father had elapsed. Then she went back to the door and knocked, while I sped down the corridor to Olina.

She was fully dressed when I opened the door, but her brows were knitted, and she was plainly in a bad temper.

"Do you know why your father wishes to see me?" she asked.

"If I did know, Olina, I would not be able to tell you," I said briskly. "But you will know when you get to his room, and I must ask you to hurry."

She walked with me at my pace, with no further comment, but I saw her eyes widen when she came into my father's room and saw her mother seated before a table with Philip Veritzen standing by her side. Lillian was already seated, and my father set out chairs for Olina and me. Then he spoke measuredly to Philip.

"I have sent for you and your future step-daughter to give you the only bit of pleasant news in all this turmoil. Queen Olga"—my father, as does my mother-in-law, gives the exiled queen her title—"has known the news for a little while, but I asked her to keep it to herself until I should deem the time right for you to know it. Now it is my pleasure to show you something which I think you will recognize."

He walked to his wall safe, took from it a box, and walking back to the table, opened it, and disclosed the gorgeous emeralds which Lillian and I had seen when he showed them to Queen Olga.

Philip Veritzen caught his breath, and then turning to his fiancee, lifted her hand and kissed it with old world courtesy, a beautiful, romantic gesture which I knew had genuine feeling in it.

"My dear!" he said. "I am so glad for you. Not that it makes the slightest difference to me, but I am so glad for your sake."

But Olina had not gone to her mother. With a little inarticulate cry she had dashed to the table, scooped the flashing jewels up in her hands and was holding them against her face, crooning to them as if they had been babies.

"Oh! you darlings, you beauties!" she apostrophized. "How wonderful to get you back again!"

Her mother waited a long minute before speaking. I guessed with a reluctance to tell her what she must know.

"You know, cherie," she said finally, "they will not be ours long. We must sell them, for we have no other funds."

The girl flashed round upon her mother, while something starkly avid gleamed in her eyes.

"But you can't do that!" she cried. "They are to me mine. I won't let them go!"

ASHLEY, DUNKIRK COUPLE WED AT ASHLEY CHURCH

ASHLEY, Oct. 30—The marriage of Miss Geraldine Hoffmire of Ashley, and Kenenth R. Spearman of Dunkirk took place Sunday in the Methodist church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hoffmire.

For the ceremony the bride wore a brown suit with brown accessories and her flowers were orchids. Miss Imogene Cole was her only attendant. She wore a natural wool street frock with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Dale Harrison attended Mr. Spearman as best man.

Following the ceremony, read by Rev. A. B. Johnson, there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents. Later the couple left on a wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home in Dunkirk where Mr. Spearman is an automobile dealer.

The bride formerly was associated with the Marion-Reserve Power Co. at Ashley.

PETRI IS SPEAKER AT MEETING IN McCOMB

Kenneth M. Petri, Galion attorney and Democratic candidate for congress from the Eighth district, addressed an audience of 300 at a rally at McComb, Hancock county, Monday night. He renewed his attack on the record of his opponent, Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion.

THREE ANNIVERSARIES ARE CELEBRATED AT DINNER

A dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver of Magnetic Springs Sunday celebrated the wedding anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver of Magnetic Springs, who were married 40 years, the thirty-seventh anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wagner of Mt. Vernon and the thirtieth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Otis V. Messenger of Marion. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Weaver of Mt. Vernon, George Weaver of Magnetic Springs and Mrs. Alice Rose of Richwood. Open house was observed during the afternoon when 100 guests called. The celebrants received a number of gifts.

PROSPECT WOMAN IS CLUB MEETING HOSTESS

Mrs. Donald Hickman of Prospect was hostess when the ReVera guild of the Baptist church at Prospect met Monday evening. Mrs. Willis Thomas conducted devotions. Plans were made for the annual birthday party Nov. 25 with Miss Ruth Ellen Mounts in Marion. Mrs. Harold Click presented a paper on "American Friend," and Mrs. Fred Wilson's paper was on "Youth on the Highway." The prayer band topic, "The One Ray of Light," was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Johnson. Mrs. Fred Wilson, who has moved to Wilmington, O., was complimented with a handkerchief shower. The gifts were presented in a tiny, moving van labeled "From Marion to Wilmington" and bearing the letters "W. W. G." Mrs. Wilson recently was elected state devotions chairman of the World Wide Guilds of Ohio.

Plans Completed for Program Of Annual Harding Pilgrimage Sunday

Columbus Attorney To Be Speaker As Scouts Pay Tribute on Anniversary of President's Birth.

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts from throughout Ohio will observe the 75th anniversary of the birth of Warren G. Harding next Sunday in the annual scout pilgrimage to the Harding Memorial. Fred H. Strother, Harding area scout executive, announced today that plans are virtually completed for the pilgrimage, which is held each year on the Sunday nearest President Harding's birthday anniversary, Nov. 2. As in past years, scouts will march from Central Junior High school to the Harding Memorial at 2:30 after which there will be a public program and wreath-laying ceremony at the Memorial.

The speaker will be Earl F. Morris of Columbus, youthful attorney and civic leader. Mr. Morris was selected because of the reputation he has gained as an unbiased orator, Mr. Strother said. This year he was chairman of the speakers bureau of the Columbus Community Fund and last year was vice chairman and head of the speakers bureau of the Red Cross roll call in Franklin county. His talk is to be of a patriotic, non-political nature in keeping with the tradition of the pilgrimages, Mr. Strother said.

In addition to the address there will be colorful flag ceremonies and three wreaths are to be laid on the tombs of President and Mrs. Harding. One of the wreaths will be from President Roosevelt, another from a group of Cincinnati friends of President and Mrs. Harding and another from the Girl Scouts of America. The Harding High school band will play.

Scout officials predict there will be nearly 1,000 scouts taking part in the ceremony. They point out that while the actual birthday anniversary comes on Saturday, one day before the pilgrimage, the event will be of double significance because Nov. 2 not only will be the 75th anniversary of President Harding's birth but also the 20th anniversary of his election to the presidency. President Harding was elected on his 55th birthday anniversary.

TRAVEL TALK GIVEN IN CLUB PROGRAM

Rotary and Altrusa Members Hear F. R. Harris.

The cities of Singapore and Java were the principal "stopovers" in a travel talk given by F. R. Harris of Greenfield, O., world traveler at a joint meeting of the Marion Rotary club and the Marion Altrusa club last night at Hotel Harding.

George E. Planck, president of the Rotary club, presided and welcomed the Altrusa club members, and John K. Bartram, presided for the program hour. F. M. Shelton of Columbus, an honorary member of the Springfield club, was a guest. Mr. Planck called attention to the three mill school levy to be renewed at the election Tuesday, and announced that the week of Oct. 28 is "attendance week" for Rotary. He also announced the anniversary dinner to be held by the Marion Chamber of Commerce Monday night. Miss Jessie Lindsey, president of the Altrusa club, gave a brief talk. Edgar Barnhart presided at the piano for group singing directed by Fred P. Strother.

Mr. Harris, who is superintendent emeritus of the Greenfield school returned recently from a 14-month tour of the world. Following the footsteps of "Wrong Way Corrigan" Mr. Harris headed for Ireland on his trip to California, visiting England and Marseilles enroute to Singapore and Java. The speaker, who seeks his own highways and byways in his travels, presented an interesting picture of the peoples, customs, government and life of the two cities.

He described Singapore as one of the richest regions of the world in tea, coffee, spices, priceless stones, metals and minerals and said that the English have converted it into the most fortified area in the world. The Japanese are a happy people under the Dutch rule, Mr. Harris told his audience, in contrasting the attitude of restlessness prevailing in the English ruled city.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—The Ohio Associated Telephone Co. of Marion asked the state utilities commission today for authority to refund at 3½ per cent $1,770,000 in outstanding 4½ per cent first mortgage bonds.

The new issue, to be sold at $106, would mature in 30 years, and permit redemption of outstanding bonds at $107½.

HEALTH SEAL SALE COMMITTEE FORMED

Leaders Named for Annual Anti-TB Drive.

A county committee to map plans for the annual Christmas health seal sale was formed Tuesday night when members of the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis league met in the office of Dr. E. L. Brady.

Mrs. George Ulsh, seal sale chairman, and Mrs. R. A. Todd, assistant, will direct the campaign, with the assistance of the following county workers: Mrs. Fred Dix of Prospect, Mrs. Charles F. Jones of Green Camp, Mrs. S. E. Morral of Morral, Mrs. Paul Furniss of Agosta, Mrs. H. J. Kightlinger of Caledonia, Mrs. J. C. Thuma of LaRue and Mrs. Donald Cookston.

Mrs. W. E. Miley, executive secretary of the league, and Mrs. W. E. Orcutt, publicity chairman, attended last night's meeting and are assisting with the plans.

FIRST SHIPMENT OF FIRE HOSE ARRIVES

Installation of New Equipment Under Way.

First shipment of new fire hose ordered two months ago arrived last night and today was being installed on the city's fire-fighting equipement.

The first shipment consists of 1,000 feet of two and one-half inch hose purchased from the Eureka Fire Hose Co. of Passaic, N. J. Two more shipments consisting of 500 feet of two-and-one-half-inch hose and 400 feet of one-and-one-half-inch hose are expected to arrive soon, Fire Chief McFarland reported.

The new hose is being distributed among all three fire stations to overcome a shortage accumulating over a period of several years, Chief McFarland reported. All of the old hose will be retained in service.

DEMONSTRATIONS GIVEN AT CAMERA CLUB SESSION

A demonstration showing that it is not necessary to have expensive equipment to make satisfactory photographs was a feature of a meeting of the Marion Camera club at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. The demonstration was given by Bob Jennings who took an indoor group portrait with a $2 box-type camera. He then developed the film and distributed prints to the club members and guests.

Several members of the club joined in two other demonstrations, one of various types of cameras and the other a comparative exhibit of photographic prints. Each member exhibited one satisfactory print and one of inferior quality, explaining the errors that had been made in the inferior print.

CHRIST'S SECOND COMING TO BE REVIVAL SUBJECT

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE SET AT MEETING OF UNION

The semi-monthly meeting of Local No. 162, United Construction Workers, C.I.O., was held Tuesday night at the Steel Workers hall. Martin G. Finn of Washington, D. C., general organizer for the C.I.O. was the speaker. Plans were made for an organization drive among construction workers. Mr. Finn announced he will be in Marion for several weeks to aid with the drive. G. C. Whaley is secretary of Local No. 1.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 11 at the Marion Shovel Workers hall. Mr. Finn is carrying on similar work at Lima and Columbus.

In is talk Mr. Finn explained how the industrial form of unionism operates in the construction industry, giving the worker the right to follow as many trades as he is capable of doing with only one union membership. This plan, he stated, elliminates possibility of jurisdictional disputes.

Shoppers Again Jam Around Fire Salvage Sale

Today brought a repetition of hundreds of persons jamming about the entrance to the temporary headquarters of the J. C. Penney Co., near the courthouse, where yesterday the merchandise salvaged form the company's recent fire was placed on sale. The sale has drawn crowds unequalled in recent years.

Shoppers were on hand as early as 6:30 a. m. each morning. By the time the store opened hundreds were milling about the entrance. Yesterday four special policemen were on duty permitting only a limited number of shoppers in the store at a time. City firemen assisted police today.

Yesterday's downpour failed to dampen the ardor of the crowd, few persons leaving despite a heavy and continued shower. Several women fainted. One shopper purchased a pair of boots for her husband. Upon inspecting her purchase when she left the store she found one hip boot and another of knee length.

DRAFT LEGALITY TEST RUMORED IN DETROIT

Dykstra Hears Suit May Grow Out of Error.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — A legal test of the draft lottery, as a result of misplacement of six numbers out of 9,000 prepared for the drawing, was reported officially today to be under consideration in Detroit.

Clarence A. Dykstra, selective service director, said he had been apprised that suit might be undertaken by a potential Detroit draftee who was unidentified to Dykstra except that he held serial number "158" which the lottery turned into "order No. 1."

If the man finally decided to raise a legal issue, Dykstra said, he will have to go through the drafting process and allow the courts to determine the issue. It was assumed, although not definitely known, that he lacked any obvious grounds for deferment.

The selective service chief declared that the lottery had been "eminently fair and accurate."

Discovery that the six number holding capsules were missing came when Brigadier General Lewis B. Hershey, assistant selective service director, lifted the last blue capsule from the great glass bowl in departmental auditorium at 5:47 a. m. today. The drawing, which Secretary Stimson had started at 12:16 p. m. yesterday, had lasted 17 hours and 31 minutes.

PETAIN EXPLAINS WHY HE LINED UP WITH AXIS

By The Associated Press

VICHY, Oct. 30—France decided on collaboration with the Rome-Berlin axis "to maintain French unity," Marshal Philippe Petain, chief of state, told the nation tonight in a broadcast explaining his meeting of last Friday with Adolf Hitler.

"Thus in the near future the weight of suffering laid on our country can be lightened," the old marshal said. "The plight of our prisoners can be bettered and the expenses of occupation (by the German army) can be diminished."

MARION MAN NEVER SUFFERS FROM GAS OR 'HEARTBURN' NOW

Read in Papers How Vendol Was Helping So Many People, So Got Some and Now Enjoys Grand Relief Too.

"It got to where I almost dreaded for mealtime to come because I could be certain that I would suffer afterwards," declared Mr. L. A. Dixon, retired Car Inspector for the Erie Railroad, who now operates a grocery store in Green Camp, a few miles from Marion, in describing his experience to the Vendol Man in Eckerd's Cut Rate.

"My bowels were constipated, which upset my stomach so badly that my food would sour in my stomach, a lot of gas would form, acid risings came up and burned my throat, and I'd have 'heartburn' so bad that I could hardly get my breath, it seemed.

"My kidneys were not as active as they should be and I think this is what caused pains across my back and slight pains in my joints. I began taking Vendol after reading in the papers of the good it was doing for people in Marion and all over Ohio and that was the best thing I've done for myself in a long time.

"Vendol acted as a mild diuretic on my kidneys and worked nicely to relieve the constipation, and expelled the gas from my stomach. I continued to take Vendol and I never suffer from 'heartburn,' gas, palpitation, or other digestive distress due to constipation, and the backache and painful joints have also been relieved."

THE VENDOL MAN

Vendol is made from extracts of 12 Roots and Herbs rendered mildly Alkaline. If you are constipated, which makes you suffer from indigestion, sour gassy stomach, dizziness, spots before your eyes, or you need a mild diuretic action on your kidneys, why not try Vendol? It may be just what you need, and a few weeks' trial will prove it. Hundreds of people all around here have already done this, so don't put it off.

Come today and talk to the Vendol Man who is at Eckerd's Cut Rate Drug Co., and learn how this popular medicine may also help you. Most all leading drug-gists sell Vendol. —Adv.

Draft Order List of Marion County Registrants

Printed here is the first section of the selective service order roll for Marion county as it was drawn Tuesday in Washington. The first 175 to 200 men in each of the county's three draft districts are listed in the order established in the national lottery.

The list today starts with No. 9, the first eight having appeared in all editions of Tuesday's Star.

From the men listed below will be taken the draftees in at least the first call next month, and possibly for a subsequent call or two. It has been unofficially estimated that only four or five men will be taken from each district in the first call.

In the list below, of course, are many men who will be deferred for various reasons, mainly dependency.

Another list of the order roll will appear in The Star tomorrow.

These published lists are unofficial and may contain minor errors resulting from necessarily hurried transmission and compilation. However, the registered men can obtain an accurate idea of their place in the order list. The official order numbers will not be drawn up by the local draft boards for several days at least.

Order of National Lottery Numbers in Marion County

From the list of numbers published here, Marion county men registered for the draft may obtain an approximate idea of when they may be called up for service.

All Marion county serial numbers drawn in the national lottery at Washington Tuesday are in the list. In each instance the national lottery number (not an order number) appears first and the serial number follows in parenthesis. A registrant can determine about where he stands in the order roll by finding the location of his serial number in the list. If his serial is early in the list, he will be among the first to be examined for eligibility for service. If his serial number is toward the end, he will be among the last called up for examination and possible service.

The list below contains only national lottery numbers which apply to Marion county. All national numbers higher than the Marion county registration totals were eliminated.

MOOSE MEETS CAMERA

By The United Press

PORTLAND, Me.—A score of hunters chased a 600-pound bull moose over land and water. Four hours later the hunters cornered the animal in the woods of Cape Elizabeth and shot him — with cameras, because Maine has laws protecting moose from hunters' guns

DOCTORS WARN FOLKS WHO ARE CONSTIPATED—

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets —now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but ALSO assist liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

Harding Set for Galion Thursday, St. Mary Prepares for Columbus Fo

Presidents Due To Move Back Into Race for Share of Title Tomorrow.

Marion Harding is due to move back into co-leadership of the North Central Ohio conference football race here tomorrow night when the Galion Orangemen trek into Harding stadium. Only an upset...one of several times the proportions of the one which gave Bucyrus its first league win in three seasons at the expense of a previously unbeaten Marion club...can prevent the Presidents from climbing into the NCO driver's seat alongside Shelby and Bucyrus.

At the same time Bucyrus will need to stave off an invasion of the victory-bent Mt. Vernon Yellow Jackets to hold secure its share of the grasp on the top rung of the circuit ladder. Shelby, having played one more game than other league teams, takes the week off, while Ashland is due for a big assignment in entertaining Mansfield, Saturday afternoon. Observers anticipate a three-way conference tie after this week's games unless Mt. Vernon comes through against Bucyrus, which isn't likely.

Remaining Loop Games

Remaining NCO contests, including those this week, list Bucyrus vs. Mt. Vernon and Ashland, Marion vs. Galion and Mt. Vernon and Shelby vs. Galion. Both the Redmen and the Presidents must chalk up a pair of victories to get a slice of the 1940 title, while Shelby is virtually sure of its cut since only the last place Galion outfit remains on the Whippet schedule. By taking the Orangemen in stride Shelby can finish the season with four wins and a loss, a record that can be equaled but not bettered by both Bucyrus and Marion.

Marion-Galion grid rivalry during the last 15 years has been evenly matched, a perusal of the record showing that since 1925 Marion has won eight and lost seven contests.

In that 15-year stretch neither team has posted more than two consecutive victories and last year's victory for the Presidents, 54-6, was the widest difference in the scores. Galion's heaviest advantage was the 18 points in the 30-12 win of 1937.

Comparative scores for the current season show Marion winning over Ashland, 12-0, and losing to Bucyrus, 16-6, while Galion dropped decisions to both teams, bowing to the A's, 25-0, and the Redmen, 27-6.

GOPHERS FACE TOUGH FIGHT AT EVANSTON

Northwestern Easy No More for Bierman Teams.

By The Associated Press

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 30—Some of the older settlers hereabouts can remember when Northwestern was just a pushover for the mighty Gophers of Minnesota.

But portly Lynn Waldorf, affable in a drawing room but fierce as they come on the gridiron, changed all that. Before Waldorf assumed charge of the Purple in 1935 Northwestern had won only five of 16 previous encounters with Minnesota.

Since then the Gophers have bowed to Waldorf machines three times in five games. Northwestern was the fourth team to kick a subpar Bernie Bierman product in 1939, but the Wildcats' other two wins came against previously-undefeated teams.

All this and the fact that both are rolling along undefeated this season lends a touch of drama to this Saturday's encounter between the two in Dyche stadium.

The Wildcats have gone into this game the underdogs before. Back in 1936 a Waldorf-coached eleven faced undefeated Minnesota and won in a muddy setting, 6-0, snapping a Gopher winning streak at 21 games. In addition, that was the first game Minnesota had failed to win or tie in 20 starts.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30—These Wolfe brothers of Upper Sandusky are doing okeh. Fenton, the big brother at Heidelberg, is tied for the state collegiate scoring lead with 48 points, while little brother Russell has counted 76 of Upper Sandusky's 103 points this year. Nice guys to have around.

So Charley Anderson, Ohio's big end from Massillon, who hasn't needed an understudy all year, is getting one? There are two reasons why Ed Massie, the sophomore halfback from Wellsville, is getting the job. One is that he's a fine ball carrier, and can be used on those end-round plays. The other is a rumor that Charley's books have been throwing him for a loss, and he may not be available next season. Well, if it's true, the books are doing something that opposing linemen can't do to the husky Negro, who in our book has been the best Buckeye on the list this year.

Now you tell us why Capt. Jim Langhurst is taking over some of Don Scott's signal-calling chores. It isn't part of the rebuilding campaign for 1941, while Jim won't be back, while Don, the pre-season choice as "the back of the year," will be on deck.

There's a pretty good chance that two Ohio boys, now playing for the University of Indiana, will be the thorns in the side of the thrice-defeated Bucks when they meet the Hoosiers here Saturday. The two are "Hurlin' Hal" Hursh of Middletown, the Big Ten's best passer, who will be at left half for the invaders, and Harold (Red) Zimmer, 150-pound flash from Springfield, the other half. Zimmer, a "scat" back, is rated the life of the Hoosier pigskin party, the team's best pass receiver, and an honor student in the university's school of education.

Miss Mary Howison posted scores of 185-168-156 for a 509 total that won individual honors in Monday night's meeting of the Ladies' All Star league at the Marion Recreation Center. Crawford Finance checked in the top team counts of 899 and 2,058 in winning three straight over Colonel's Gulf Station and extending its first place lead to four full games.

A 240 by Eddie Ford, 604 by Tom Jevas and the 874 and 2,416 of Defiance Press Steel Production quintet shared Home league laurels. The pace-setting Vess Beverages saw their lead slashed to a lone game when they dropped a pair to the runner-up Production outfit.

Irish Forces Gird for St. Charles Invasion Friday

Marion St. Mary gridders, at something less than full strength because of four regulars handicapped by injuries, are preparing to entertain one of the strongest clubs booked to meet them on the home lot this season. The invaders, Columbus St. Charles, have dropped but one decision this season, that to the unbeaten West Jefferson club.

St. Charles leads all teams of greater Columbus in scoring this season and the star, Dick Zubel, right halfback, has posted a record of 88 points in five games. The capital city team, coached by Jack Ryan, rolled to victories over Trimble, 47-0, Lima Central Catholic, 27-6, Columbus Holy Rosary, 19-6 and Grove City, 64-7, while losing to West Jefferson, 20-6.

Halfback Zabel, who packs 205 pounds into his five foot, 10 inch frame, helps boost the weight average of the backfield to 175 pounds per man. The line averages 165.

Missing from St. Mary practices again this week are Ted Schuler, John Robbins, Jim Daum and George Shoup. All were benched as the result of injuries in the Fostoria St. Wendelin battle two weeks ago but Schuler managed to play two quarters of last week's game at Mansfield Madison. Schuler until last week had scored all of Marion's touchdowns saw his team win in the last half, 6-0.

St. Mary's home appearance is scheduled for Friday night, the contest being scheduled to start at 7:30 instead of 8 p. m., as previously announced.

FOES TO GANG UP ON GREEN BAY'S PACKERS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 30—The Chicago Bears and Cardinals, National Football league teams, are going to gang up on the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

The Cards, idle this week, will attend the Packers' pivotal battle with the Bears in a body to scout the pro champions in preparation for their game with Green Bay Nov. 10.

The Bears, fresh from a 37-21 shellacking of the New York Giants, will be going after their second victory of the season over the air-minded Packers. The Bears opened the campaign with a 41-10 decision on Green Bay's home gridiron.

What's Wrong with State

Renick Blames Poor Physical Condition of Play Don Scott's "Modesty."

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30 — Now comes an official explanation for the oft asked question "What's wrong with Ohio State's university's football team?"

It is "poor physical condition of the players," in the opinion of James L. Renick, director of athletics publicity for the university. (Renick formerly was sports editor of The Star.)

And Quarterback Don Scott is "too modest." That is another reason assigned by Renick for the losing streak which has toppled the powerful Buckeyes out of the high national rankings.

That question "What's wrong?" has had as many answers as there are Monday morning quarterbacks. It came right out in the open in a meeting of Ohio State alumni here and Renick replied with the most official explanation yet offered at this mid-season point.

"Our team is poorly conditioned," he said frankly. "Why that is true I just don't know. Our boys seem to lack the pep to play more than half a game at high speed. It may be lack of scrimmage or some other reason. I do know the physical condition of the squad is poor."

Renick blamed Scott, generally rated as one of the best quarterbacks in the country, as a possible element in bogging down Ohio State's attack.

"Scott is very sensitive and modest," he said, "and despite all arguments, refuses to call his own signal at important moments when he should carry the ball. He does not want to monopolize the show.

"It has come to a point where I understand that Jim Langhurst (fullback) may call the signals hereafter but I am not sure the change has been ordered definitely.

Renick said he knew of no dissension whatever among team members.

Harmon Continues To Set Pace as Rivals Slip

By HERB BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 — Tight defensive play last week stopped the spectacular football exploits of Jack Crain of Texas, Frank Reagan of Penn and Paul Christman of Missouri, but nothing short of a concrete wall, it appears, can halt Thomas Dudley Harmon of Michigan.

On the basis of his brilliant play not only against Penn last Saturday, but through the first month of the season, it is difficult to see how anything less serious than a broken leg could keep the Gary (Ind.) thunderbolt out of the All-America backfield for the second successive year.

His Record to Date

Against previously unbeaten Penn, Harmon scored one touchdown, passed for another, booted both extra points, gained around 150 yards from scrimmage and added another 50 yards or so on passes, outkicked the highly-touted Reagan by a wide margin and generally comported himself like the All-America he is. Against Michigan's fine line play, Reagan never could get started, and even his kicking suffered as he sought desperately to angle the ball away from the ubiquitous Harmon.

Christman, one of the 1939 season's biggest thrill-providers, had a bad day against Nebraska, perhaps because his favorite receiver, Bob Steuer, was not in the Missouri lineup. Backfield honors in this game went to Harry Hopp of Nebraska. Hopp's better known team-mate, Herman Rohrig, played only long enough to connect with two passes good for 48 yards and a touchdown.

All-America John Kimbrough and blocker Jim Thomason, Texas A. & M. stars, once more paced the Aggies in their hard-won victory over Baylor, featuring a tough line. Kimbrough picked up 91 yards on 30 thrusts, looked good on defense and played 55 minutes. Thomason was in there the full go.

Norman Standlee, tough fullback, has been a standout in most of Stanford's games so far, but last week against Southern California, he had to yield the palm to Frankie Albert, Stanford quarterback, a southpaw passer whose faking ability had the Trojans bewildered.

"I had him tied up like a couple of wrestlers," said Al Krueger, star Southern California end, "yet he got the ball away for completed passes."

Dean McAdams, great Washington star, was a 60-minute player against California whose fullback, Jack McQuary, also was a standout.

Other head-liners during the past week included: George Franck, Minnesota, who scored four touchdowns against Iowa; Art Jones, Richmond, who scored all of his team's points in the upset of V. M. I.; Steve Juzwik and Milt Piepul of Notre Dame; Andy Marefos, St. Mary's line-cracker; Lou Bufalino and Hal McCullough of Cornell; John (Pepper) Petrella of Penn State; Jim Lalanne of North Carolina; Harvey Johnson of Mississippi State; Al Grygo of South Carolina; Dick McGowen of Auburn; Johnny Bosch of Georgia Tech, and Frank Sinkwich of Georgia.

Rating along with these on high performance last week were Langhurst and Scott of Ohio State.

RICHWOOD COUPLE WED AT HOME OF BRIDE

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD — A pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirk near Richwood when their daughter Margaret Jane Kirk became the bride of Dwight Ridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ridge, also of Richwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Foster Sizemore before an improvized altar of Fall roses and candles. The bride's attendant was Miss Paula Reeley of Essex and the bridegroom's attendant was his brother Park Ridge. Two numbers were sung by Katherine Jean Kirk, sister of the bride, accompanied at the piano by Mary Jane Cramer, Wagners "Wedding March" from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Cramer.

The following members of the families and a few friends were present: Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Park Ridge, Carol Mae Ridge, Paul Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. N. Fryman and Mrs. M. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirk and daughters Katheryn and Roberta, Paula Reeley, Mary Jane Cramer and Rodney Warrick and Rev. and Mrs. Foster Sizemore. A reception was held following the ceremony. The couple left for a short wedding trip to Niagara Falls after which they will be at home on the Kirk farm near Richwood.

DID NOT LACK ENGINES

By The United Press

TAMPA, Fla. — A 1924 auto, purchased in Ypsilanti, Mich., by Johnny Calder and Eugene Young for $4, brought them here from Michigan. The two youths, students at the University of Tampa, said they carried a spare motor in the car, but no trouble developed.

If every motorist really understood our Guaranteed Starting offer...

...SOHIO stations would look like this!

• Yes, sir, if every car owner realized how free—and how swell—Guaranteed Starting is, we'd actually have a hard time handling the business we'd get! Even though it has been in operation four straight winters, some motorists still can't believe that it's absolutely free with just regular winter precautions. And many still think it's just an advertising idea, that there's a "catch" in it somewhere.

But what a different reaction you get from people who have had the guarantee! A recent survey shows that 95.6% of those who had it last year will get it again this winter!

If you have never had your car guaranteed to start every time, all winter long—don't miss that solid feeling of security any longer. There's no extra cost, nothing more to do than the regular winter precautions you take at any service station. So don't take a chance on starting trouble this winter—turn all that worry over to SOHIO!

THIS WILL HELP YOU UNDERSTAND IT

FREE Get Guaranteed Starting With Just Regular Winter Precautions!

Motor oil, gear oil, gasoline, your battery winter-tested—that's all you need. No "red tape." You get our written certificate with just these regular SOHIO winter-grade products and our winter battery service.

That's why we say Guaranteed Starting is free—there's absolutely nothing extra to buy.

HOW YOU ARE PROTECTED—No matter how cold it gets from now until April 1, 1941, we guarantee your motor starts. If you ever fail to start, just call a garage to start your motor—and Standard Oil will pay the garage starting bill.

SOHIO

"YOU START, OR WE PAY!"—STANDARD OIL

The greatest evidence of Product-Faith ever shown in the oil business!
